"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul!"

was the cry of the poet when he mused upon the transition of the chambered nautilus from one "ship of pearl" to another.

So it has been with the history of Mercersburg; as the swift seasons have rolled, so has the school built its physical plant from those far-off days when Main Hall, North Cottage, and South Cottage were the only buildings. The story of this progress has had climactic peaks—the dedication of the chapel; the completion of Irvine Hall; the dedication of Swank Hall and Boone Hall during this school year.

The evidences of physical growth have been symbolic of the growth of The Mercersburg Academy and of her sons in wisdom and stature. A good school helps the young man to leave his past year's dwelling for the new. Mercersburg has built more stately mansions for the minds and bodies of her boys.

In this seventieth volume of the KARUX with The Chambered Nautilus of Oliver Wendell Holmes as our inspiration we seek to trace the opportunities for the growth and progress offered to Mercersburg boys for successful construction of their ships of pearl for life's sea.

*Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea.*

The

Faculty

MERCERSBURG'S managerial organization is much like that of a large corporation. The Faculty is the group in direct contact with the students not only in the classroom and in the dormitory but also in all extra-curricular activities. They exert dominant influence upon the development of the boys due to the close academic atmosphere which prevails. The Administration, similar to the officers of a corporation, decides school policies concerning the planning of classes and curriculum, discipline, admissions, public relations, and the hiring of new teachers. Their offices are always open to advise boys, while every student receives individual attention concerning his course of studies. The Seniors are closely advised with regard to college admissions. The Administration oversees all campus improvements and finance. The Board of Regents, representing the directors of the corporation, initiates and approves general, long-range school policies, such as the appointment of certain administrative officers, the approval of the budget, and planning new buildings.

They are the builders of our minds. They form and shape our thoughts, and show us the way to future learning.

They rend our ceilings of darkness, and bring to us the light of knowledge. Our teachers build for us a citadel of learning, and it is our duty to make more stately the mansion of knowledge.

A Tribute

Two hundred twelve years of service to The Mercersburg Academy received recognition on the commencement platform, June 3, 1962, when the headmaster, the senior class, and those present paid tribute to five members of the faculty who retired in the summer of 1962 from active participation in the affairs of the school.

Messrs. Wilmarth I. Jacobs, Claude M. Yeakle, B. Frank Kulp, Clarence L. Charlton, and Norris W. Grabill received diplomas from President Comar of the senior class and thus became honorary members of the Class of '62. Mr. Jacobs had been at Mercersburg 47 years; Mr. Yeakle, 49; Mr. Kulp, 44; Mr. Charlton, 37; and Mr. Grabill, 35.

Wilmarth I. Jacobs, a native of Natick, Massachusetts, who received his A.B. degree from Clark University and his Ed.M. degree from Harvard, came to Mercersburg in 1915 as an instructor in biology and physics. From 1917 to 1935 he was head of the Department of Physics, except for a year (1917-1918) spent in the U. S. Navy. In 1935 he became assistant headmaster and director of admissions. He was acting headmaster of Mercersburg from September 1960 to April 1961.

Thousands of Mercersburg boys hold a deep affection for Mr. Jacobs because of the time he devoted to their difficulties and to conferences when they became discouraged. They are grateful to him for his scrupulous and kindly attention to their interests.

Claude M. Yeakle came to Mercersburg in 1913 as mail boy and served in a number of capacities at the school until he became treasurer in 1947. He is a graduate of and a devoted and loyal son of the Academy. He fulfilled his different assignments over his long period of service in a conscientious, faithful, loyal, and efficient manner.

B. Frank Kulp came to Mercersburg in 1918, and in his tenure at the school his kindly patience guided many unwilling feet along the path to college preparation. His greatest service was the many hours spent in help periods and reviews to aid the laggard in his study of Spanish.

Mr. Kulp received his bachelor's degree from Gettysburg College and his master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He did graduate work at Harvard and at the Centro de Estudiantes in Madrid. He taught at Keystone Academy before coming to Mercersburg.

Clarence L. Charlton, A.B., A.M., came to Mercersburg in 1925 to teach French and Spanish and later took charge of the biology department as head for more than 25 years. He studied at William and Mary College, the University of Chicago, La Universidad de Méjico, and at the University of Virginia biological station.

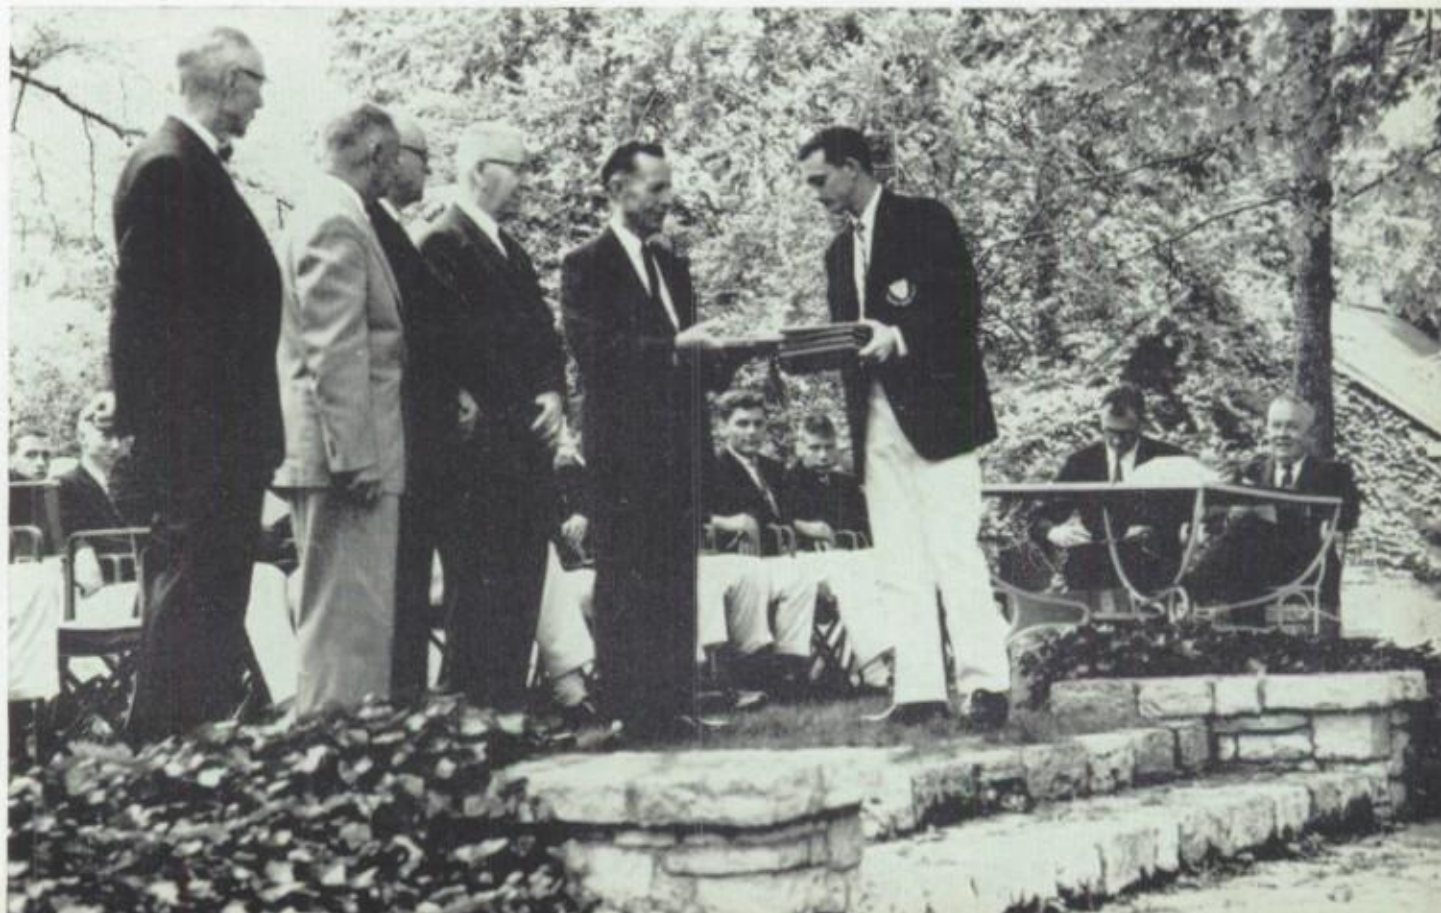

Mr. Charlton's patience and kindness gained him the affection of many friends at Mercersburg over a long period of years.

Norris W. Grabill, A.B., M.A., taught mathematics at Mercersburg from 1927 to 1962. He studied at Otterbein College and Columbia University. Before coming to Mercersburg he taught at Connellsville (Pa.) High School and Bellefonte Academy. Mr. Grabill has been chiefly noted for his wide interest in sports of all kinds. What have not been so well known are his wide interest in music and his ability as an organist.

Many a Mercersburg student has spoken of the rigid standards of performance demanded by Mr. Grabill in the classroom and has paid him tribute for this preparation for the difficult years which were to follow in college. He was a fine teacher and unfailing in his obligation to Mercersburg and her sons.

Activities and MERCERSBURG strives to give students a rounded education through extra-curricular activities as well as regular studies.

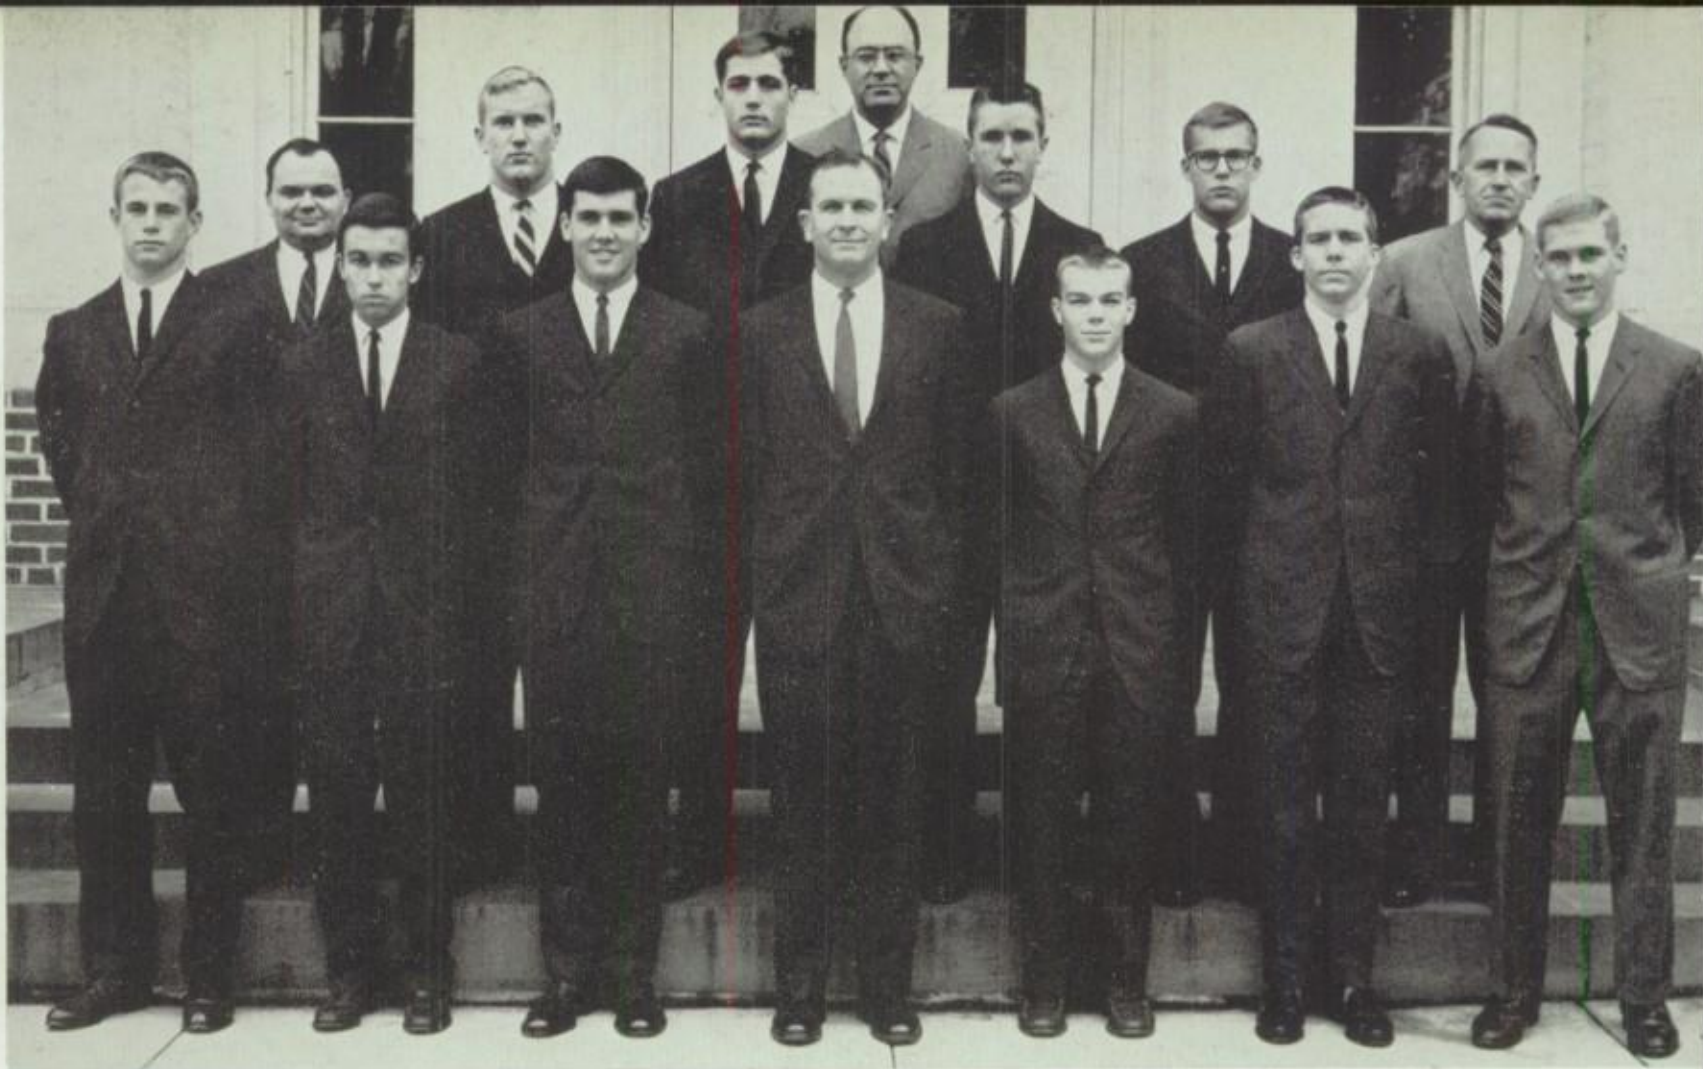

Special interest groups include the Gun Club, Chess Club, Music Appreciation, Projection Crew, and Stony Batter, dramatics club. Also, boys must join either the Marshall or Irving Society. For students excelling in certain fields of study, various departmental clubs provide extra opportunities. These clubs include Les Copains, Kazaki, the Rauchrunde, Laticlavii, Círculo Español, and the Chemistry Club. Various "professional" clubs meet from time to time. Future lawyers may join the Jurisprudence Society; boys interested in electronics may work for WMER, the school radio station, or join the Electronics Club; future doctors may join the Caducean Club; and students with art ability may enroll in the Paideia. Leading students may be elected or appointed to the Senate, Student Council, the Fifteen, Blue Key Club, Orientation Committee, Elections Committee, Entertainment Ushers, Chapel Ushers, and the Dance Committee.

A boy builds friendships by working and playing together with other boys. Many activities bring him into contact with others. He builds himself a place in the society in which he lives. The boy grows, through his activities and his contact with others, into a mature person who can willingly accept his role in society.

Clubs

The Academy Senate, the judiciary branch of the student government, participates in school discipline, reviews Council action, and presents new ideas to the administration for the benefit of the boys and the Academy. First row, from left: Hoffstot, Armstrong, Price (president), Mr. Fowle, Goodwin (vice president), Harris (secretary), T. Putnam. Second row: Mr. Rankin, W. Brown, Kettering, Cass, Lichty, Mr. Howard. Back row: Mr. Schellenberger.

Senators discuss various school issues.

Leads School

The Council or Mercersburg's legislative branch of the student government represents dorm floors and various school organizations. This group meets periodically to discuss proposals that make for successful school life. The membership is, front row, from left: Staiger, Armstrong, Eiferle, Goodwin (vice president), Price (president), Sommerville (secretary), Kreider, Hobbs, Devine. Second row: Lichty, Way, T. Putnam, Ballou, Griffith, Bowie, Burns, Peirson, Alsted, Robison. Third row: E. Peterson, Cass, R. Adair, Yamas, Drehmann, Sweeney, Schiffer. Fourth row: J. Richardson, Hoffstot, Sams, Kettering, W. Brown.

The Orientation Committee conducts a program of greeting and guiding "bewildered" new boys at the beginning of the school year, each September. The members are, first row, from left: Goodwin, K. C. Walter, Brody, Hoffstot (chairman), W. S. Walters, Summers, Armstrong. Second row: Hobbs, T. Putnam, Banzhaf, Steinbuhler, Ballou, Cass, Helwig, Alsted. Third row: Griffith, W. Porter, Price, R. Adair, J. W. Peterson, W. Brown, Hess. Fourth row: Stewart, Kettering, Cheely.

All new boys must wear black ties until Parents' Day. As the sun sets in the west, the last tie of new boy initiation hangs black as death itself in "Hangman's Tree."

During the week before school begins, John Hoffstot, chairman of the Orientation Committee, shows new student Jan Thompson the room which will be his for the coming school year.

One of many up-and-coming radio men, this disk jockey spins a few records for the enjoyment of his fellow students. His show will be followed by a complete news roundup and many specialty shows.

Students interested in building and repairing radios and other electronic equipment join the Electronics Club, which meets regularly in Irvine Hall under the supervision of Mr. Russell H. Lord. The group includes, first row, from left: Powers, Weaver (treasurer), Burns (president), Mr. Lord, Hobbs (vice president), Strickler (secretary), Harman. Second row: Hammond, R. Evans, Tio, F. Swetland, D. Evans, Hess. Third row: Sams, Kurtz, Howells, J. Richardson, Hampp.

With lectures, movies, and guest speakers, the Caducean Club learns about the many phases of the world of medicine: surgery, research, and general practice. Mercersburg's future doctors meet Sunday nights at regular intervals under the guidance of Dr. Hitzrot, the Academy physician. They are, first row, from left: J. M. Campbell, Eiferle Compton (secretary), Goodwin (president), Dr. Hitzrot, Cutshall (vice president), Jamison (treasurer), Shipper, T. Putnam. Second row: M. Moyer, W. Moyer, Shorten, Devine, Ballou, Griffith, Marshall, Gocke. Third row: Spangler, Bowie, S. Walker, Ibberson, Stahle, Stone, Dickson, Sams, Loder. Fourth row: Agnew, Levine, R. Adair, Schultz, McCuskey.

The Jurisprudence Society, a group of aspiring young lawyers, meets periodically under the guidance of Mr. Rankin to listen to and discuss the talks of visiting attorneys. Also included in this group are future diplomats and politicians. The future legal lights in 1963 are, first row, from left: Arthur, Stein, Alsted (treasurer), Hoffstot (president), Mr. Rankin, Jackson (vice president) Sommerville (secretary), Loebel, Compton. Second row: Molyneaux, Roth, Hogue, Hagander, Hamilton, Minter Foose, Woods, Agnew, Whitten. Third row: D. Zeger, Marshall, Burns, B. Jones, Wismer, Ornitz, A. Bisset, Homicki, Drew, J. Kirk, Lenna. Fourth row: Holmes, Plappert, Bigham, Vierling, Barkdoll, Schultz, Hess, Sweeney Steel, Entwisle. Fifth row: Pearsall, Small, Kettering, Chance, Cheely.

Every Saturday the Gun Club, under the supervision of Mr. Decker and Mr. Wilkinson, enjoys the sport of trap-shooting. The members of the Gun Club participate in inter-club competition, and those who have shown exceptional skill shoot for their respective societies during the Marshall-Irving competition. First row, from left: Mr. Wilkinson, Williams, Hadley, Greenamy, Knight, Latta, Russell (president), Stein, Loebl, Gilfillen, Ake, Mr. Decker. Second row: Hammond, Bensen, Kriegel, Fleming, Menard, Kebert, Robison, Hazelton, R. Walker, A. Walker, F. Swetland. Third row: Forcier, Rush, Seto, Bixler, Rodriguez, Wasilko, Meiselman, Clark, Compton, J. M. Campbell. Fourth row: Nevares, Dickey, Collins, Dean, Crandall, Plappert, Griffith, Peirson, J. Miller, Lucas, Hicks. Fifth row: Knappenberger, Sams, Koontz, Staats, Winter, McCuskey, Hitch, Stone, Burroughs.

Literary Club

President Armstrong reads paper at Fifteen Meeting as attentive faculty adviser considers his comments.

The central theme considered by this year's Fifteen was "The Impact of Experience." At the monthly meetings, the following topics were discussed: November, "Love and Hate among the Tyrones," based on O'Neill's Long Days Journey into Night; December, "Guilt and Atonement among the Thebans," based on Oedipus Rex by Sophocles; January, "Hatred and Death among the Carbones," based on A View from the Bridge, by Arthur Miller; February, "Disgrace and Waste among the Dalloways," based on Mrs. Dalloway by Virginia Woolf; March, "Love and Irony among the Elliots," based on Persuasion by Jane Austen; April, "Scandal and Subjection among Ladies," based on Diana of the Crossways by George Meredith; May, an original contribution by students of The Fifteen.

Mrs. Staley pours tea for thirsty boys.

Thomas Foose reads paper at "15" meeting.

Is Outstanding

Six times each year, The Fifteen, Mercersburg's honorary literary society, meets to discuss specific extensions of a basic theme. This year, with the skillful guidance of Mr. Schellenberger, its members, who are outstanding English students, explored diverse aspects of "The Impact of Experience" at meetings hosted by the faculty. Seated, from left: Armstrong (president), Steel, Loebl, Lichty (vice president), Sommerville (secretary), Foose, Mr. Schellenberger. Standing: D. Zeger, Marshall, Brown, Landau, Stahle, B. Jones, Harris.

Charlie Coates and Bill Brown replace returned books.

Language Clubs

Messrs. Bair, Miller, and Swetland look over the new audio-visual equipment of the language department.

Les Copains, the French Club, completed a very successful year. Led by Mr. Smith, the club sponsored a number of activities, including an informal dance. The members are, first row, from left: Kellman, C. Bell, G. Miller, Alsted (treasurer), Marshall (vice president), Arthur (president), Armstrong (secretary), Hoffstot (sergeant-at-arms), Tio, Rubin, McCauley. Second row: Shorten, Greenberg, C. Hall, Gibson, Campbell, McCullough, Entwisle, J. G. Thompson, Molyneaux, Gocke, Hogue, Ornitz, Weiser. Third row: Weaver, Holmes, Schulz, O. Martin, Vaughn, Kaufman, D. Evans, S. Davis, Dickey, Hill, Porter. Fourth row: Vierling, Brande, Cass, Woods, B. Jones, Talerico, R. Abrams, Agnew, Levine, Wicke, Bowie, Bowers. Fifth row: R. Adair, Sams, Piersall, Stahle, Ibberson, H. Putnam, Schultz, Hitch, Cheely, Rauscher, Chance, Rowny.

Mr. Bair tells the school about his summer trip to the U.S.S.R. He spent five weeks there, studying the people and their language.

The Rauchrunde, honorary club for German scholars, is advised by Mr. Bair. The club has special films and events throughout the year. The members are, first row, from left; M. Abrams, D. Zeger (secretary), Foose (vice president), Ebert (president), Lichty (treasurer), Koch. Second row: Way, Shuman, Nicely, Inboden, W. S. Walters. Third row: Rowny, Landau, Artman, Sollenberger.

El Circulo Espanol, the honorary Spanish club, under the guidance of Mr. Abney, annually tour the Pan American Union Building in Washington, D. C., attend lectures and movies in Spanish, and end the year banqueting Spanish style. This group includes, first row, from left: Mr. Swetland, Stein, Loebel, Jackson (president), Mr. Abney, Bigham (treasurer), Roth, Walker, Mr. Wilkinson. Second row: J. Smith, Gost, Sanchez, Hagander, Hobbs, Steel, Gaston, R. Himes, Dunmire, Harman. Third row: Bailey, Seibert, T. Allen, McEachern, Dean, R. Gee, Bateman, Howell, Nevares. Fourth row: Toan, Selmer, Wiltman, Coates.

Faculty adviser Abney with Mr. Wilkinson discusses Circulo program with club officers Bigham and Jackson.

vs. Irving

Each February, the two societies, Irving and Marshall, compete in sports and a speaking contest. Seen here is the first-place winner in the declamation, Robert Sollenberger, as he finishes his presentation. Marshall made a clean sweep in the declamation with Christopher Wellons and Alan Brody capturing second and third places, respectively. Marshall also won the week end.

A gay dance in a Valentine setting enlivened the Saturday night of Mid-Winter Week End.

The Entertainment Ushers perform a very valuable service as "doorkeepers" in the auditorium. Their courtesy and graciousness add to the pleasure of visitors at functions in this room. They are, from left: Drew, Bailey, McLean, Sawyer, Latta, Gost.

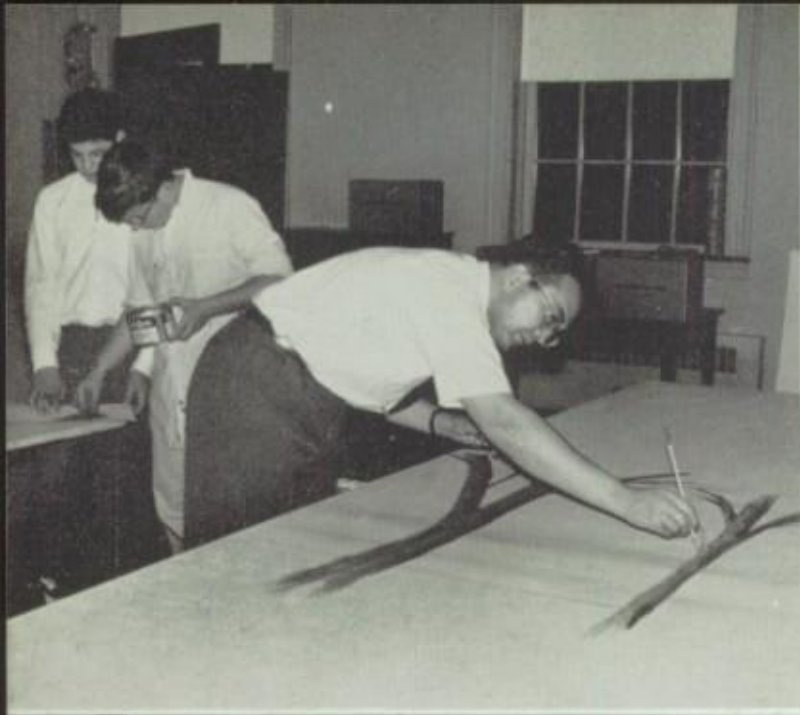

Each Sunday collection is taken by the Chapel Ushers. Here they have just completed their duly appointed rounds and combine the offerings.

Extending a courteous welcome to guests at functions in the auditorium, the Entertainment Ushers offer guests Mercersburg hospitality. Gordon Drew shows places to Dave Minter and date.

The Lively Arts

Paideia president, Chip Evans (far right), relaxes at informal opening-night party after winter play while discussing scenery painted by his crew.

Boys interested in the various phases of art constitute the Paideia, instructed by Mr. Joseph D. Adams. The Paideia is divided into groups. The first group works with paints and pastels and studies art history, and technique. The second group helps design, construct, and paint scenery. First row, from left: Bell, Russell (program chairman), Colberg (secretary-treasurer), Mr. Adams, C. R. Evans (president), Woods (vice president), Bernard. Second row: Meiselman, Berg, Brewer, C. W. Walters, W. Gorell, T. Booth, Schumann, G. C. Miller. Third row: R. Abrams, Stahle, Plappert, J. Kirk, Taylor, Weiser, Howell.

Pat Winter (played by Stuart Dean), takes pleasure in antagonizing her brother Peter (played by Bob Parks) by announcing arrival of the one person he does not wish to see.

"Do you use a torch?" asks James Winter (played by Frank Butts), father of the family of professional crooks, as he steps forward to soliloquize delicate techniques necessary for good safe-cracking.

Pat and Peter glare at one another while the Vicar (played by Harry Eiferle) listens intently as Angela (played by Michael Colella) inadvertently creates a very awkward moment during a chat with James and Mrs. Minter (played by Wallace Gorell) about crime and its detection.

Several members of The White Sheep of the Family cast work out a blocking problem with Messrs. Abney and Quinn.

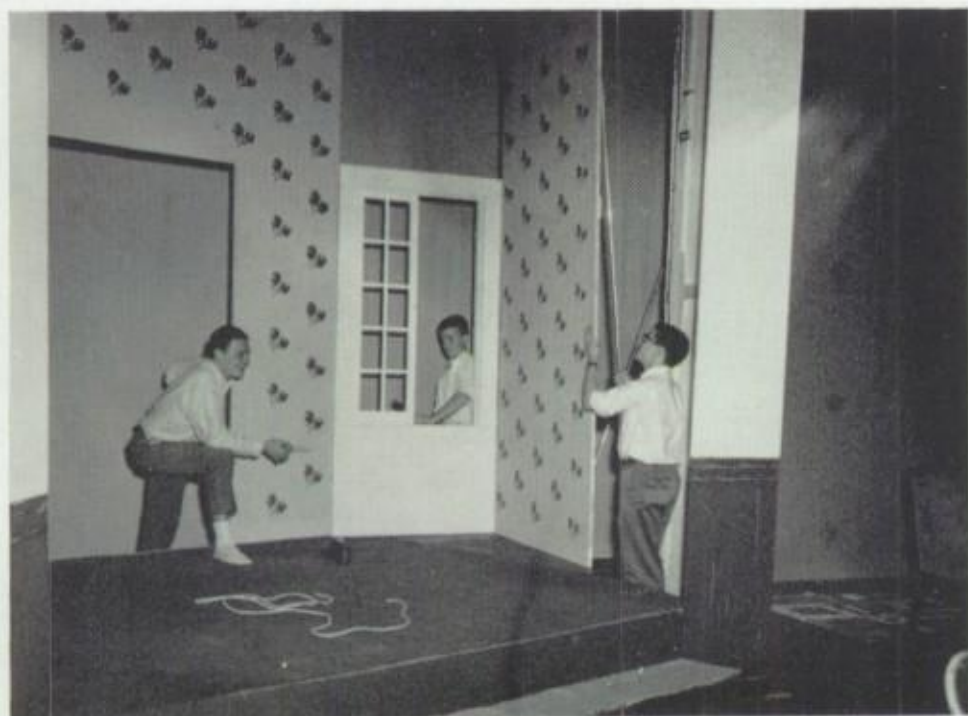

Janet in a comic moment proves that "good help is hard to find these days."

Janet (played by Kent Schreiber), housemaid and apprentice pickpocket of the Winter family, practices on a handy bowl of fruit.

Sam Jackson (played by David Minter), the Winters' "international broker," goes on about how the boys in the back room unload the loot for him and his clients.

The cast and crew of Stony Batter's production of The White Sheep of the Family sit for their formal group picture after a successful production. The members of Stony Batter are, first row, from left: Mr. Quinn, Schreiber, W. Gorrell, Eiferle, Minter, Colella, Parks, Mr. Abney. Second row: Rodriguez, R. Himes, J. M. Campbell, Gropper, Applbaum, Ransom, Arnold. Third row: T. Allen, G. Smith, Ibberson, Peirson, Holmes, Butts. Fourth row: Dean.

Chuck Miller, Bob Andrews, Oakley Mertz, and dates enjoy casual conversation and delightful dancing at 1962 Spring formal. This dance is one of the highlights of the school year that many of the boys think of in ecstatic anticipation for many weeks in advance. The wonderful blend of company, music and starlight provides a welcome interlude and a memorable night.

DESPITE the loss each year of talented singers and musicians, the various musical organizations of Mercersburg continue to maintain their fine standards of excellence. In the field of instrumental music, a group for every occasion is found. At assemblies during the year, the Assembly Band leads the students as they sing school songs. The Football Band provides half-time entertainment at football games. Each year the Concert Band supplements the Glee Club in its annual Spring Concert. Mercersburg's dance band, "The Blue and Whites," highlights the Mid-Winter Weekend and Spring Dances. For its vocal music, Mercersburg depends on three highly trained groups. The Chapel Choir provides musical leadership every Sunday morning. The processional and anthem by this group are well-remembered aspects of the chapel service. Vocal entertainment is taken care of by the Glee Club and Octet. Their program includes several off-campus engagements, the Spring Concert, and singing at Step Songs.

As the shell tossed upon the shore echoes the music of the sea, calm or turbulent, so the music of the school echoes its spirit. The message of music brings a feeling of calm or joy. This feeling swells with each new, clear-ringing note. The sound of music builds an appreciation of the better things in life.

Every Sunday during Chapel the Academy Choir leads the student body in singing the various hymns. It presents weekly a fine anthem and in addition a memorable program at the Christmas candlelight service. The roster includes, first row, from left: McCauley, J. G. Miller, Ameter, Reising, Dunmire, Mr. Hamer, Koch, Ransom, K. Booth, J. T. Thompson, Green. Second row: Hanna, Rockwood, Lichty, J. Morgan, Foley, Nevares, W. Thompson, J. MacCallum, Ludwig, Foose, Birnie, Schultz. Third row: Ibberson, Stanton, C. Evans, W. Hall, Loder, Toan, Banzhaf, Dickson, Buchanan, Nicely, Crandall. Fourth row: Childs, J. Porter, Stahle, Sollenberger, B. Jones, Wismer.

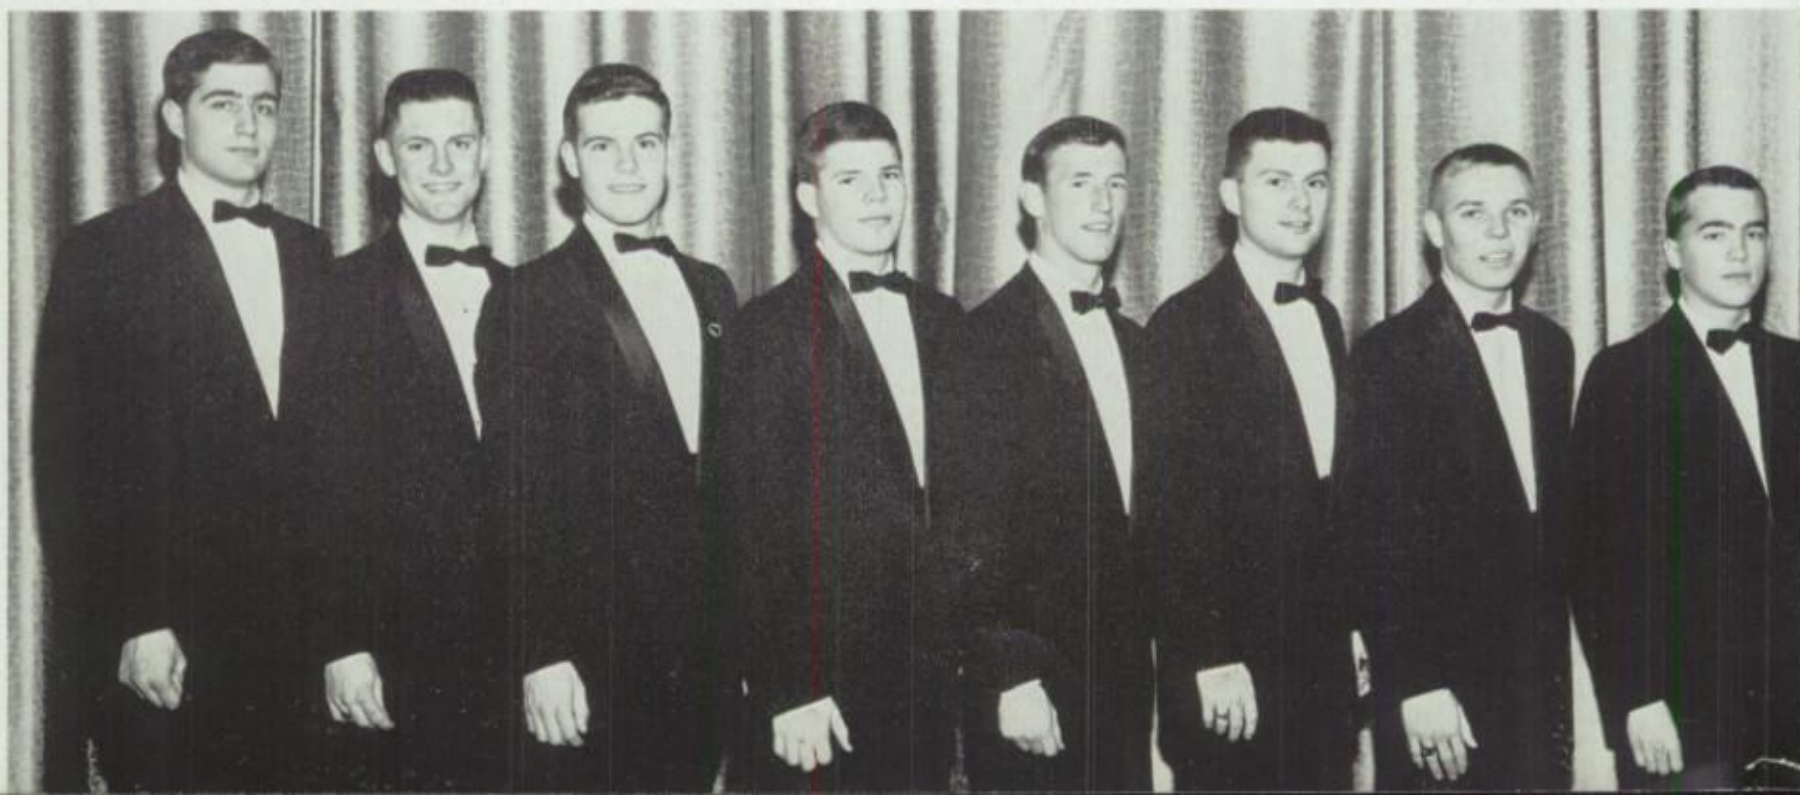

Mr. Hamer, organist and choir-master, plays prelude for Sunday chapel.

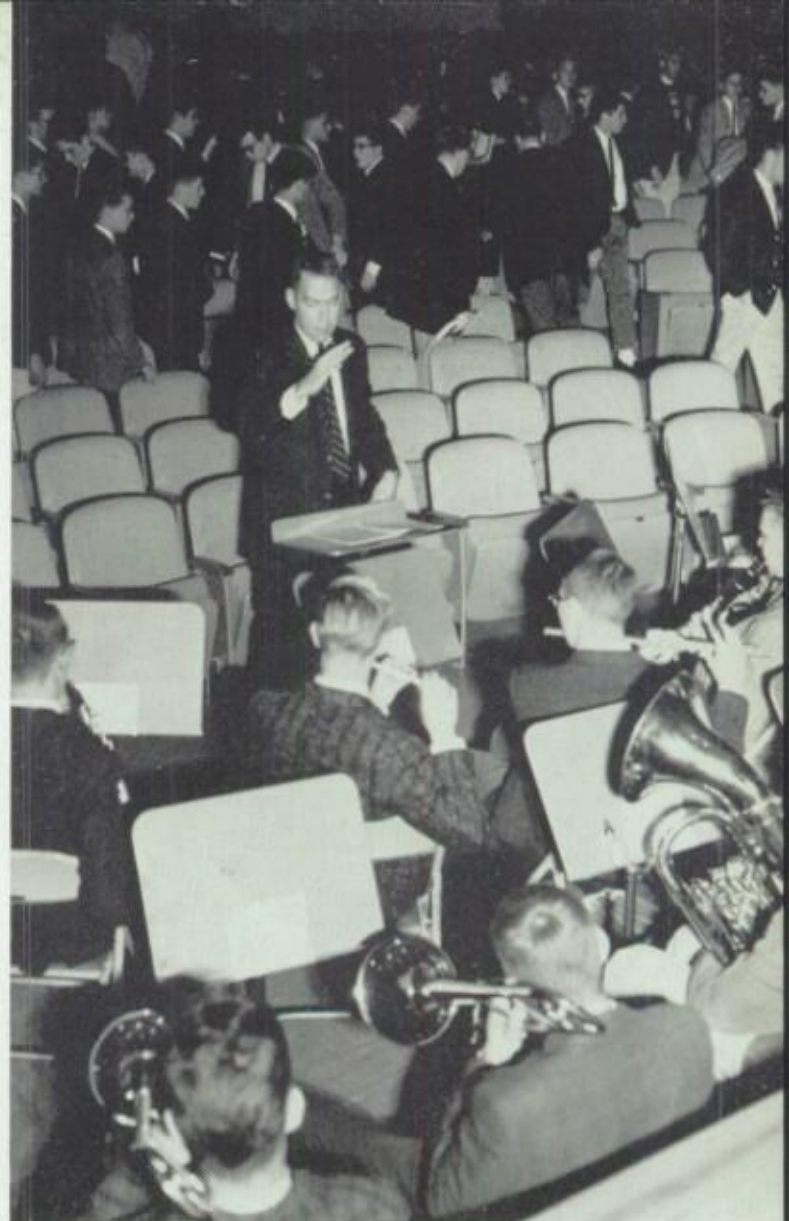

Fred Ibberson, student director of the choir, leads the group in preparation for the Sunday service.

Boys in the Octet, chosen for their excellence in vocal ability, perform with other vocal groups in annual Spring Concert. This group includes, from left: Kettering, Sollenberger, Childs, R. Martin, Foley, McCauley, Koch, Ransom.

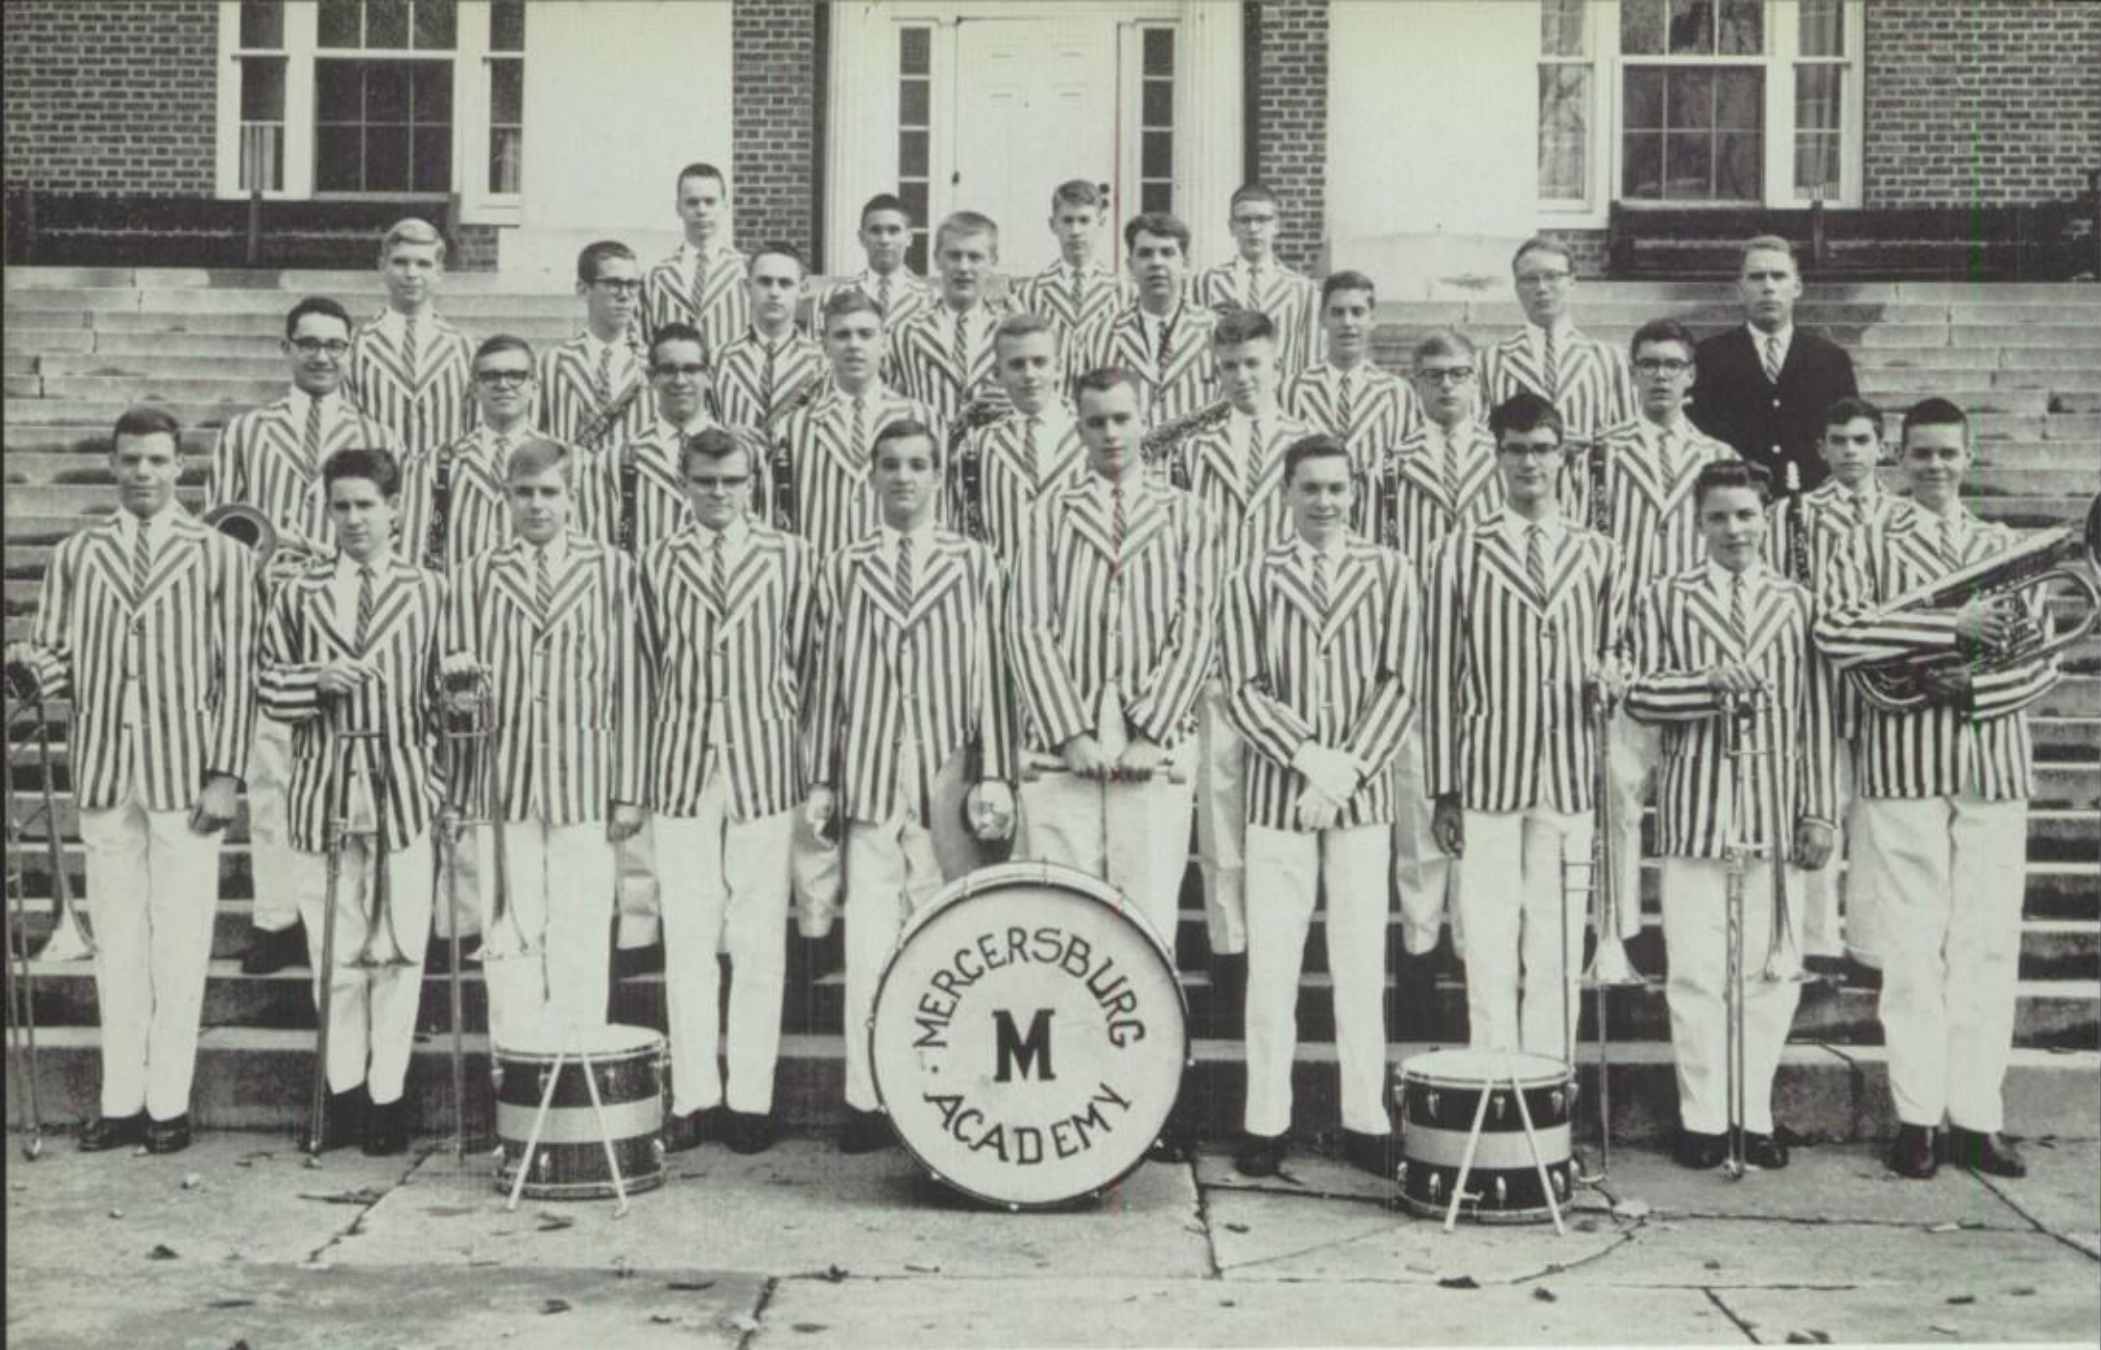

"Once more, softly," says Mr. Grover to trumpeters.

Led by director Earl Grover, the Assembly Band plays stirring marches as the students leave the hall after morning assembly.

The Glee Club under the skillful direction of Mr. Grover provides excellent entertainment for the school in the spring concert. They also make two trips during the spring to entertain other schools. This group includes, first row, from left: Albert, J. T. Thompson, A. Miller, Koch, Greene, Ransom, Applbaum, Birnie, Booth, Goodwin, McIlroy, Adams. Second row: Foose, L. Thompson, Reed, Ludwig, Brande, Nielson, Compton, Campbell, Ameter, Bernard, McCauley, G. Miller. Third row: C. Evans, Schnebly, Marrs, Johnson, Devine, Richardson, Buchanan, W. Thompson, Morgan, MacCallum, Tracy, Kaufman, Mr. Grover. Fourth row: Stewart, G. Adair, Pierson, Taylor, Martin, Jones, Inboden, Lenna, Minter, Plunkett, Foley, Wismer. Fifth row: Landau, Chance, Banzhaf, Pearsall, Griffith, Ibberson, Wellons, Loder, Soltenberger, Stahle, Hanna, Hall, W. Gorell. Last row: Kettering, Schultz, Himes, Childs, Toan, Hoffstot, Sommerville, Lucas, Porter, Bowers, R. Adair, Dean.

The Mercersburg Football Band under the direction of Mr. Grover, did much to enhance school spirit this year by its outstanding performances at home games, at the away Hill School game, and at the Friday night pep rallies. First row, from left: Mermelstein (vice president), Francy, Reed, Golden, M. Moyer, Chance, Dragoo, J. Porter, Wilkins, Runkle. Second row: Ibberson, Foose, J. W. Davis, Seibert, J. Kern, Dean, Reising, Steiger, Gilmartin. Third row: Breed, Schnebly, Atwell, Coates, Landau, H. Miller, Evans (president), Mr. Grover. Fourth row: J. Campbell, Worobec, Dunmire, Hershey.

Mercersburg's Assembly Band livens many school gatherings with spirited tunes and rousing marches. They give excellent background and accompaniment to student group singing. This musical group includes, first row, from left: Mermelstein, Reed, M. Moyer, Dragoo, Chance, Francy, Runkle. Second row: Ibberson, J. W. Davis, C. Evans, Breed, Kern, Reising. Third row: Coates, Atwell, J. D. Campbell, Worobec, Dunmire, Hershey, Landau.

For many years, the Blue and Whites have provided sparkling entertainment for school and local dances. The band, under the leadership of Mr. Earle H. Grover, plays tunes ranging from old favorites like "Moonlight Serenade" to the modern-day pop tunes like "The Twist" and "Baby Elephant Walk". The members are, first row, from left: L. Himes, Reising, Weiser, Landau, Coates, Atwell, Ibberson. Second row: Dragoo, Francy, Feters, Mermelstein, K. C. Walter, J. Campbell, Worobec, D. Nielsen, Bernard.

Mercersberg's Bands Rival The Music Man's Seventy-six Trombones

The Fourth

A USEFUL aspect in a boy's education is his self-expression through participation in his school's publications. This year, the literary efforts on the part of the students of Mercersburg have again resulted in excellent publications and an efficient public relations organization. Each week the "Mercersburg News", the school newspaper compiled by students having special interest in this field, offers complete coverage of campus life, sports, and school functions. Members of the Press Club keep tabs on student awards and boys who merit hometown eminence by submitting news releases to editors of boys' hometown newspapers. The real literary scholars of the Academy pool their talents twice each year and produce the "Lit," which contains short stories, poems, and essays. Rounding out the school's publications, the KARUX provides the students with an opportunity to demonstrate their skills in writing and photography by giving a résumé of the events of the school year.

Expression of thoughts is a necessary part of the building of the mind. Publications offer a mode for the expression of thoughts. The student builds a background of cultural growth as he learns to communicate his ideas more fully. Publications help to form and shape the growing maturity of the student.

Stephen Armstrong was doubly honored during the winter months. He received the Aurelian Prize, awarded annually to an outstanding senior by the Aurelian Honor Society of Yale. Armstrong also received an award from the National Council of Teachers of English for outstanding ability in English composition.

Mr. Schellenberger, adviser to The Lit, invites co-editors-in-chief Landau and Loebl to his room for a review of the latest issue. The group reviews the articles and makes plans for the next issue.

The members of the "Lit" board produce a widely read and enjoyed magazine containing poems and short stories of interest to students, faculty, and alumni, many of whom have made literary contributions. The members are, first row, from left: Armstrong, Agnew, Hoffstot, Landau (co-editor-in-chief), Mr. Schellenberger, Loebl (co-editor-in-chief), Harris, D. Evans, Ballou. Second row: A. Bisset, Price, Barkdoll, R. Adair, Kettering, Griffith, Brewer, Lichty, W. Gorell.

The 'News'

Colella, writing for the Karux, scans corrected "News" proof for helpful hints.

Elmer and Bill, school workmen, perform weekly task of delivering the "News" to the post office.

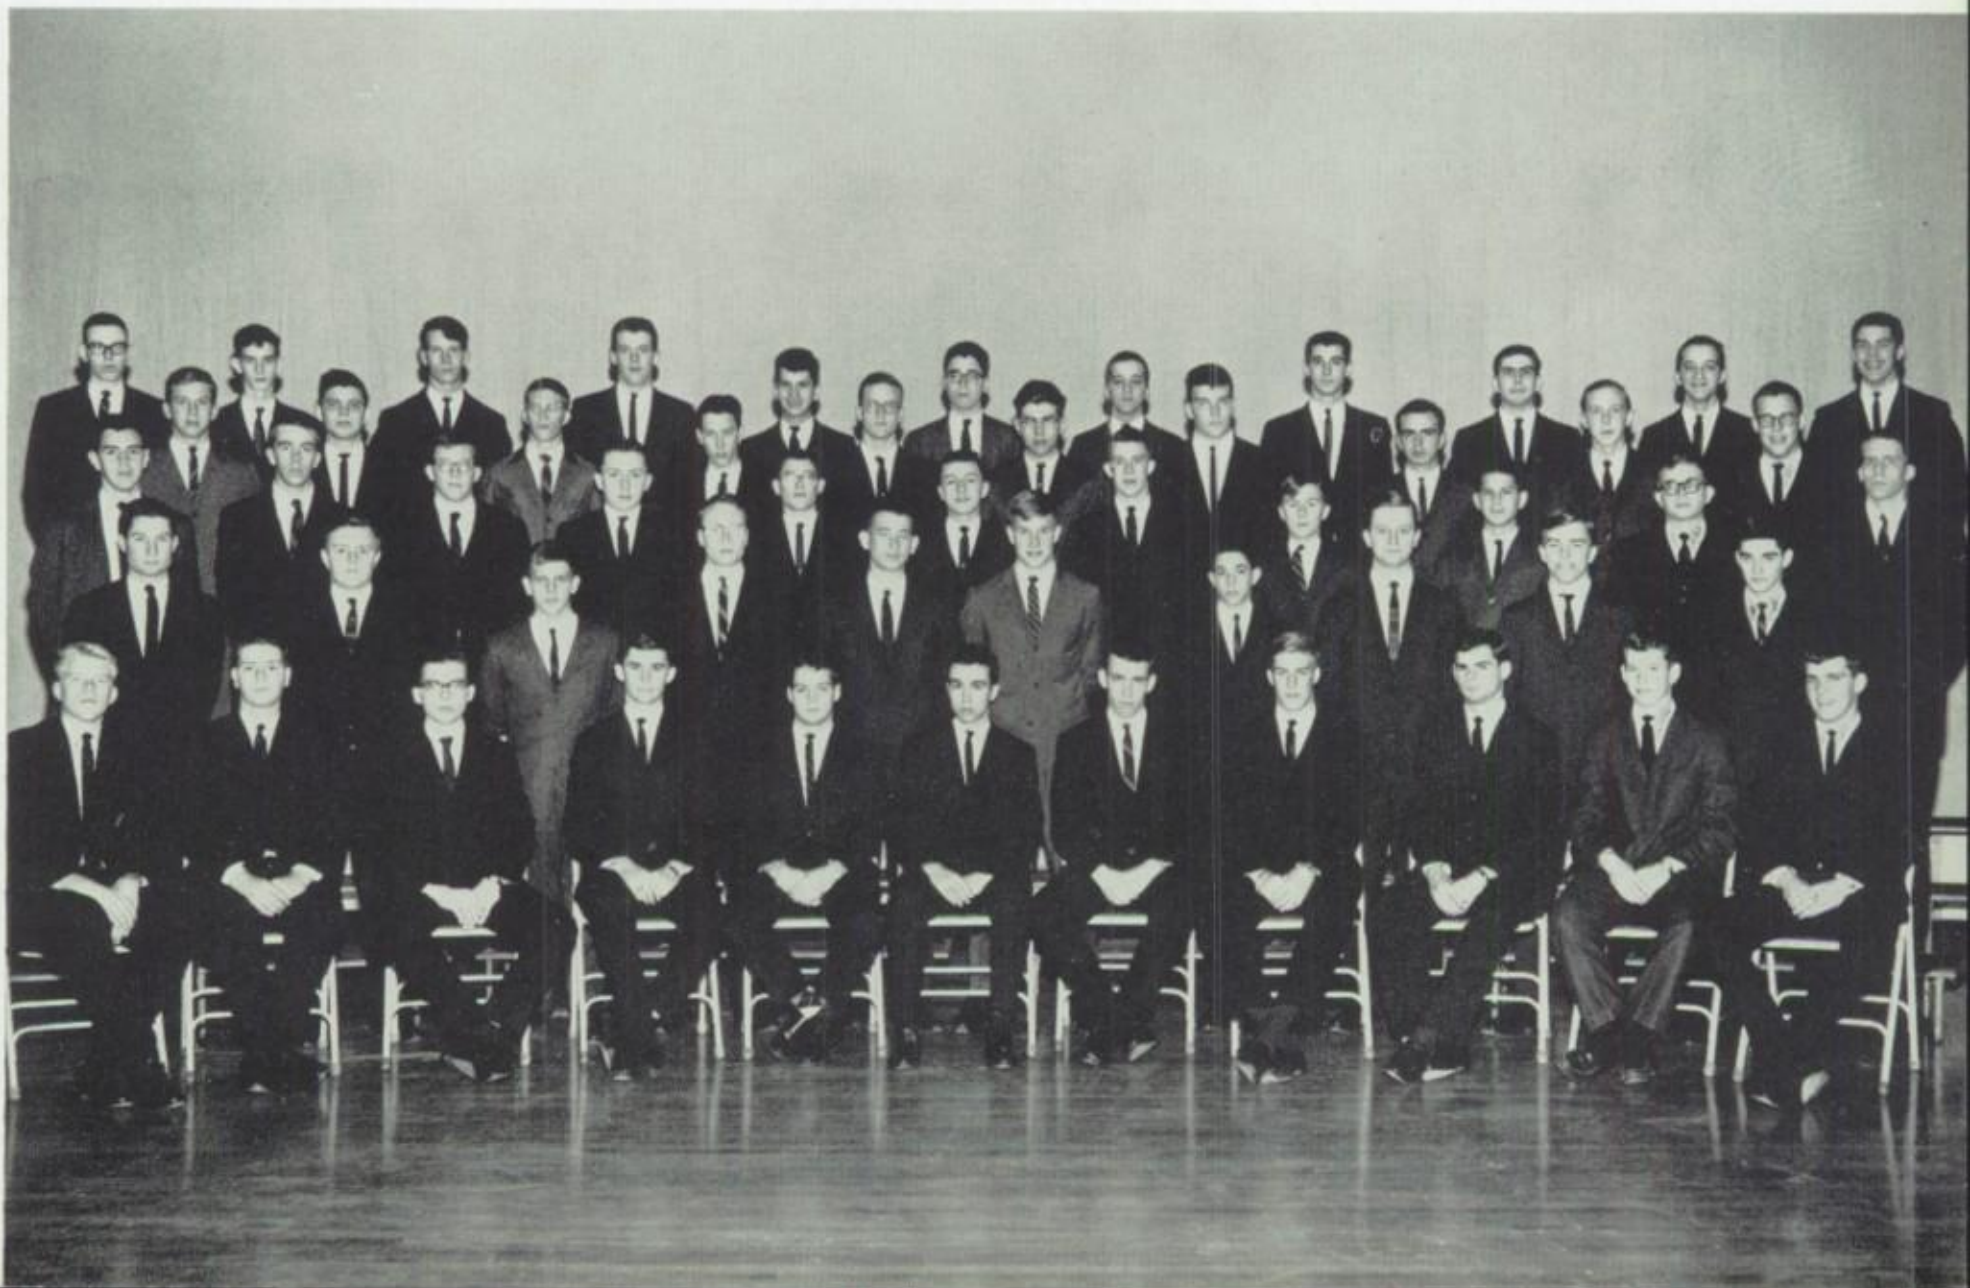

A group of proofreaders diligently peruses the various articles written for the "News". These boys are given the responsibility of expurgating mistakes in grammar, form, and content.

The Business Board of the "News" meets on Friday afternoon to fold and distribute the school newspaper.

Members of the News Board are responsible for submitting articles and write-ups concerning newsworthy events occurring on the school campus. The Business Board, subdivision of the News, prepares the papers for mailing to boys' parents and distribution to students. This board includes, first row, from left: Drew (senior circulation manager), R. Abrams (advertising manager), Kury (business manager), A. Bisset (feature editor), Ebert (associate editor), Armstrong (editor-in-chief), Sommerville (associate editor), R. Adair (proof editor), Stewart (sports feature editor), Griffith (associate sports editor), Price (senior sports editor). Second row: Jackson, Schumann, Way, C. Fifth row: Whitten, Sawyer, Toan, Cheely, Roth, S. Guttman, W. Moyer, Spangler, Holmes, M. Moyer, Sams.

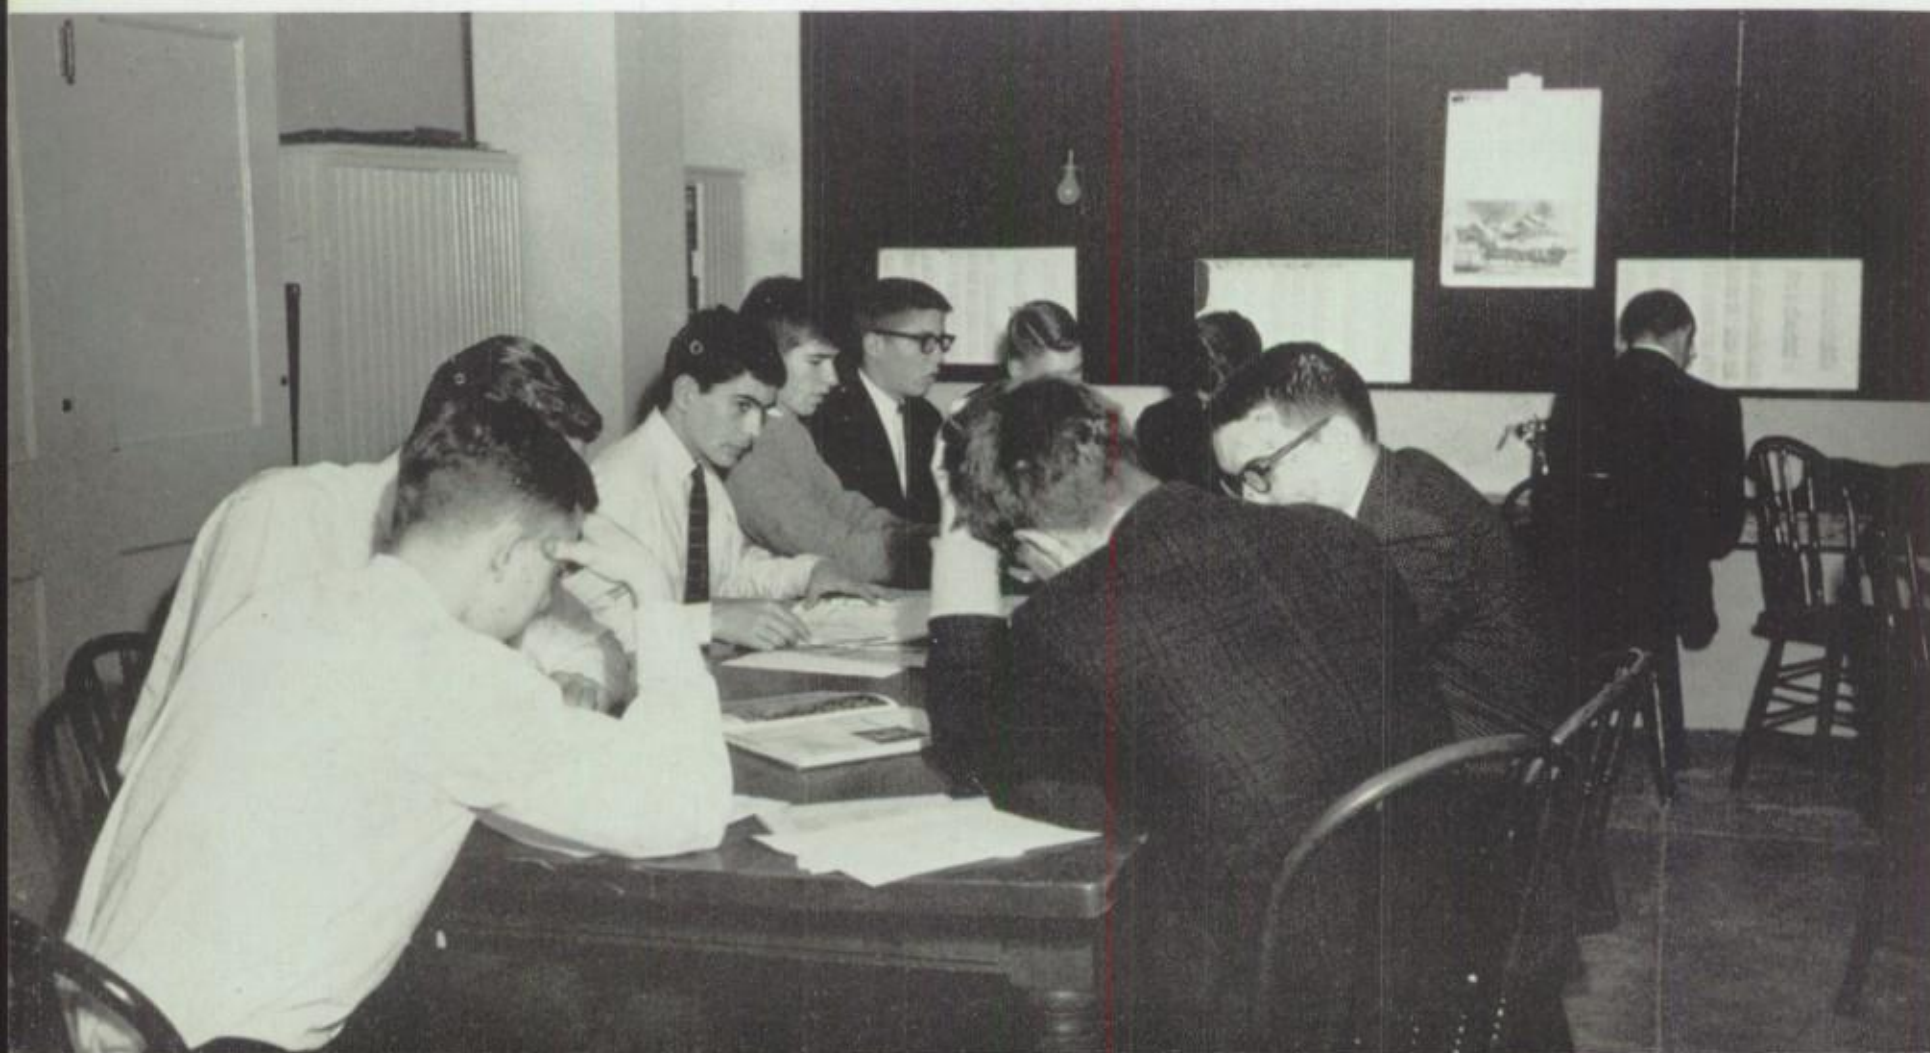

The faculty advisers, Mr. Black and Mr. Abney, and Editor Burns crop pictures for the Karux.

The KARUX

Barrett Burns, editor-in-chief of the '63 Karux, hands the dummy book to Mr. Brown, the publisher.

Every Saturday morning finds the members of the Karux staff busily working on the material which composes the academy's yearbook. Their duties include writing the captions for, and identifying, the group pictures of campus activities, and in general, tying the work together with a well-planned, and appropriate theme.

The job of the Karux is to provide the graduating senior a memento of his life at Mercersburg. The Karux has the distinction of being the oldest publication in the school. First row, from left: Levine, Roth, Stein, Burns (editor in chief), Loebl (associate editor), C. Martin, (advertising manager), Wein, Bigham (assistant editor). Second row: Rodriguez, Colella, Fink, Dunmire, G. C. Miller, D. Evans. Third row: Seibert, Bailey, R. Abrams, Wismer, J. Kirk, Shorten, Holmes, C. W. Walters. Fourth row: Jackson, Rauscher, Colberg, Hitch, Coates, Borger.

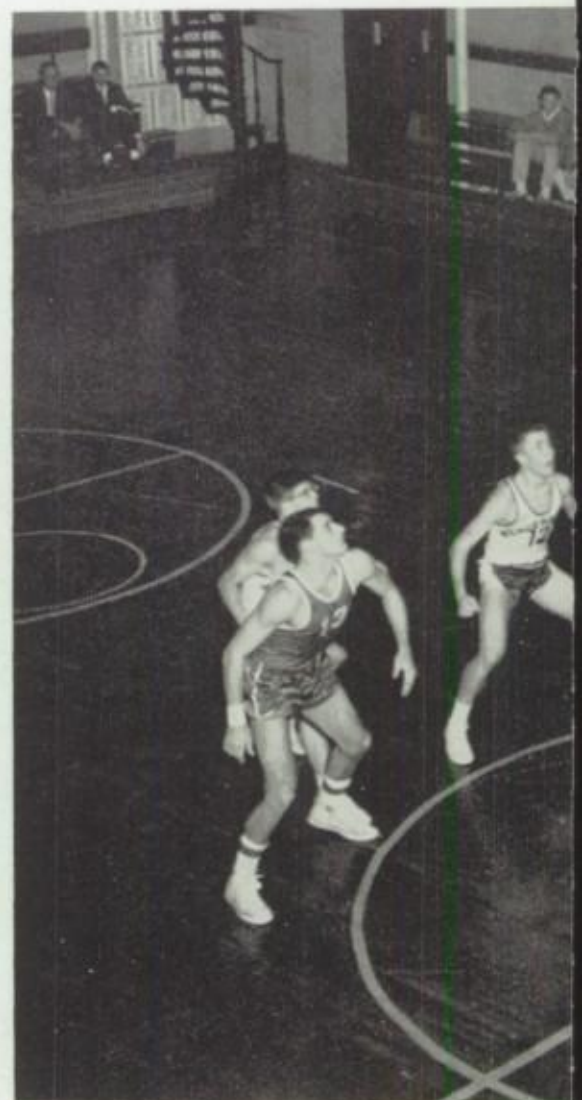

Mr. Quinn, an adviser of the Karux, talks over the various problems with some of the staff members.

THE PHYSICAL EDUCATION program at the Academy continues to develop fully in all fields, aiming for total student participation. The athletic schedule provides competition in ten major sports, each having varsity and junior varsity teams. For those not participating in interscholastic team sports, there are intramural teams.

Fall sports include football, soccer, and cross country. All boys have equal opportunity in these sports and a good chance for advancement. During the winter months swimming, wrestling, and basketball head the ticket for main sporting events. Supervised physical education classes round out the program. With the advent of Spring, baseball, tennis, golf, and track and field return to the sports scene.

Influential in the sports activities are the Cheerleaders, who stimulate student spirit, and the Marshals of the Field, who maintain order at the games. The Varsity Club serves as a goal for students and helps to promote good sportsmanship.

The mansion of the body must also be built more stately. The competitive and intramural sports program helps to build the spirit of clean play and good sportsmanship in boys.

The stately mansion of the body grows more fit, to contain the stately soul itself.

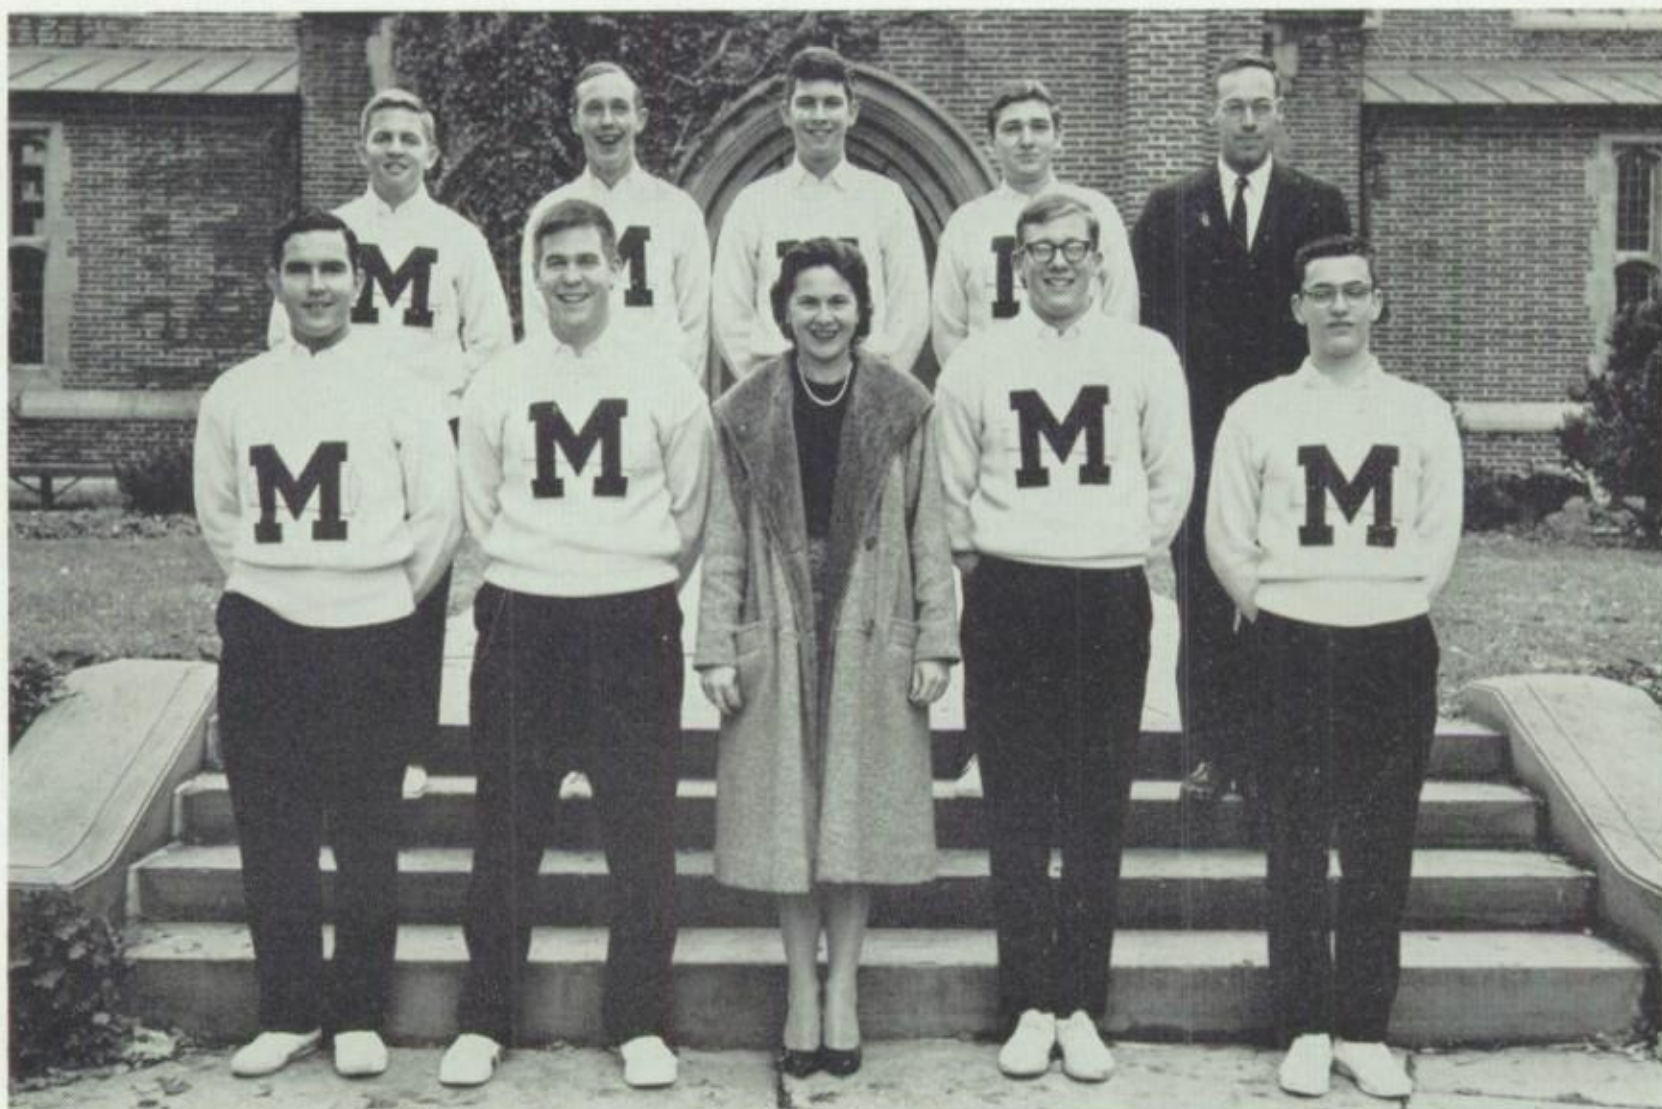

Every year Mr. Kuhn appoints a group of boys to constitute the Marshals of the Field. They are responsible for maintaining order and ushering spectators at the different sporting events. The members of this organization are, first row, from left: Mr. Kuhn, Goodwin (head marshal), Brody, A. Bisset, Molyneaux, Compton, Bigham. Second row: Hess, Funkhouser, Rauscher, J. F. Miller, Sawyer, Girvin. Third row: Levine, Peirson.

At the beginning of the second half, the varsity cheerleaders precede the gridmen back onto the playing field through a cheering student gantlet.

All boys who have earned the varsity "M" may join the Varsity Club. This group encourages excellence in athletics, giving sweaters to varsity seniors and trophies to star athletes. The officers this year are, from left: Goodwin (secretary-treasurer), Hoffstot (president), Price (vice president), Mr. Plantz.

The Cheerleading Squad, advised by Mrs. J. D. Conlin and led by Captain Dave Minter, functions at all home athletic events and helps to create school spirit. This year's group includes, first row, from left: Nevares, Butts, Mrs. Conlin, Minter (captain), Gropper. Second row: W. Gorrell, Lenna, Stahle, Marshall, Mr. Bronk.

Aggressive opponents and many injuries to key players failed to stop Mercersburg's hard-hitting Varsity Eleven. This powerful team, molded over a course of three years, enjoyed a satisfactory 3-3-1 season with fine support from the student body. These boys are, first row, from left: Mr. Getchell, Mr. Wallace, W. Brown, Sweeney, Lutz, McLaughlin (co-captain), Hoffstot (co-captain), Kettering, Price, Wotherspoon, Mr. Schonheiter, Mr. Conlin. Second row: K. C. Walters, M. Crawford, Wicke, Schoenfelt, T. White, Scott, Howell, T. Putnam, Trexler, R. Gee, Everhart. Third row: J. Crawford, Cutshall, W. JV fullback Peterson plows through the line for a gain. The JV's winning season promises a good varsity team.

This year's J. V. Football team, coached by Mr. Burbank, wound up their season with a respectable 2-2 record. Although hindered somewhat by size, the squad showed great prospects for future Mercersburg teams. They are, first row, from left: W. White, Warden, Himes, Bagby (co-captain), Mr. Burbank, J. L. Adams (co-captain), Ragland, E. Peterson, Gerson. Second row: Compton (student coach), Boswell, Tracy, Taylor, J. Gee, Banzhaf, Radbill, Marrs, Happel, Greenberg (manager). Despite their setbacks, the Spider Football team, coached by Mr. Kuhn, received valuable experience for next year. The players displayed excellent sportsmanship, especially when they were losing. This "younger" squad includes, first row, from left: Mr. Decker, Fuller, Morse, T. Crawford, Knight, Bell (co-captain), J. Zeger (co-captain), Biggi, Higginbottom, Shreiner, Noyes, Mr. Kuhn. Second row: Menard, W. C. Gorell, Jacobs, H. Richardson, C. Hall, Browning, Conrad, Cooksey, A. Miller, Shriver, Marsteller. Third row: D. Zeger (manager), Kinney, McCabe, J. R. Climaxing their season with a first place in the Junior Varsity Cumberland Valley Championships, the J. V. Cross Country team shows great promise for next year's varsity team. The squad consists of, first row, from left: Schulz, Mirkin (captain), Mr. Emory, Comegys, Watkins. Second row: Franklin, A. Guttman, Bostwick, Hutchinson. Third row: Latta (manager), Loeb (manager).

The Mercersburg Varsity Harriers, led by Captain Dave Weir and star runner Jan Thompson, concluded another spectacular season, conforming to previous years. The well balanced, steadily paced team had a 7-1 record, losing only to Hill School. This year the team consists of, first row, from left: Johnson, Young, Gleitz, Weir, Mr. Emory, J. Thompson, Sommerville, Fetters, Devine. Second row: Latta (manager), Entwisle, R. Evans, Horlacher, Vaughn, Weidler, W. Thompson, Shorten, S. Mercersburg's varsity soccer team had another successful season. Here Don Alsted heads ball away from the goal, and Bill Cowherd (goalie) prepares for the unexpected.

In this picture, Stephen Armstrong defies Williamsport's goalie and defensive man, and skillfully evades them, while onlookers observe his performance with amazement.

A hustling, well-balanced Varsity Soccer Team accumulated a respectable 6-4 record for the 1962 season. Bad luck and weather accounted for two defeats late in the campaign. Mr. Steiger's charges this year were, first row, from left: Ornitz, Armstrong, Colella, Alsted (captain), Mr. Steiger, Jackson, Bateman, Nielson, Haase. Second row: Hamilton, Barkdoll, Peirson, Sollenberger, Cowherd, Plappert, Bowers, T. Allen, McNerney, Ameter (manager). Third row: F. Swetland, Holmes, Lichty, Levine, Hicks, A. Hill.

Dick Cass, one of the Varsity's fast-moving sharpshooters, lays one over the rim for two, despite the vain attempts by the opposition to block his shot.

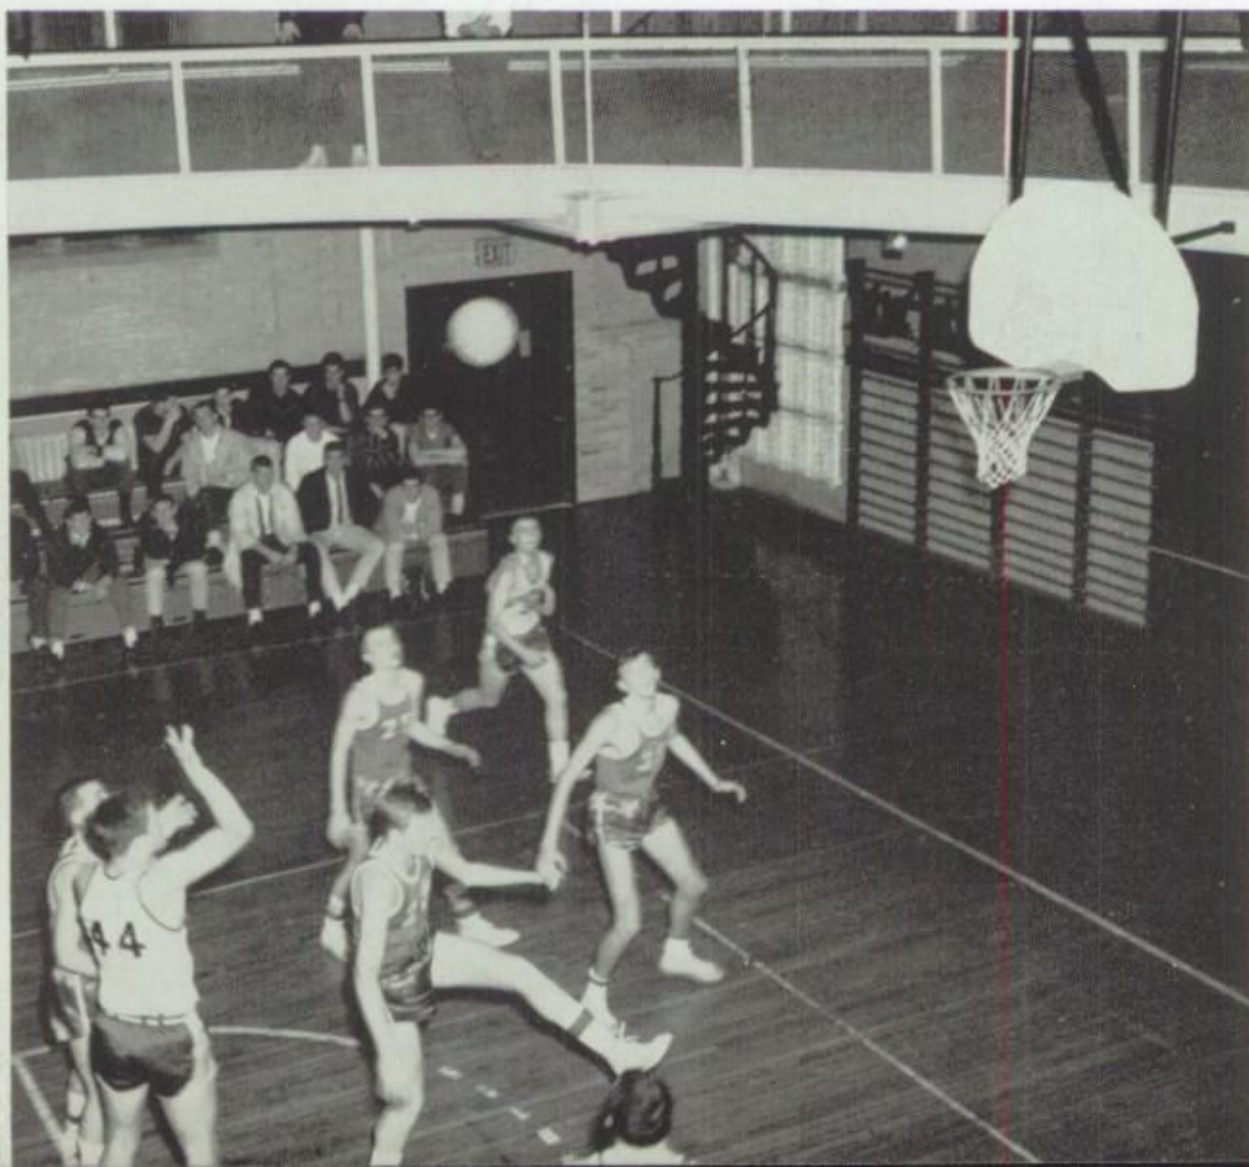

Denny Vierling, another Academy hustler, drives in for an easy lay-up. His sharp lookout for fast breaks and aggressive movements account for many Varsity points.

During a much needed time out, Coach Conlin sets up a play and suggests a few offensive moves to tally another Mercersburg score.

Bob Entwisle, co-captain of the Varsity Basketball team, drives by an opponent at a home basketball game. Bob is the "play-maker" and is considered the best ball handler of the team.

Hard pressed by opponents throughout the season, the Varsity Basketball team never gave up hopes of winning. Here, Kettering is attempting a set shot with Vierling coming in for the rebound.

Arthur Courtney puts the shot to capture a gold medal during the Field Day competition.

Outpointing twelve other contenders, Bucky Stultz won the 1962 Williams Cup, the symbol of all-around track ability at Mercersburg. The trackmen competed in five events, three of which he won.

Ted Guething leaps the low hurdle to capture the event on Mercersburg's annual Field Day. Although the finish looms closer, Don Rapp still moves up.

This year's Varsity Swimming team had a very fine season as its 6-2 record proved. The season was highlighted by many new pool and school records and ended with the Eastern Interscholastics. This year's team is, first row, from left: Mr. Burbank, Reising, T. Putnam, Selmer, Olmstead (co-captain), Mr. Schonheiter, Spangler (co-captain), Lucas, Diehl, Wotherspoon, Mr. Burgin. Second row: Arnold, Koffman, Stanwick, R. Smith, Karins, A. Walter, W. Moyer, Blanford, Porter. Third row: Whitten (manager), G. Adair, Russell, F. J. Smith, H. Putnam (manager).

Meeting little resistance from their opponents, these J. V. swimmers compiled a 5-2 record while gaining much valuable experience. Because of fine coaching, many team members showed encouraging improvement. First row, from left: Mr. Burbank, M. Smith, Conrad, Robison, Mr. Schonheiter, Menard, T. White, Ameter, Mr. Burgin. Second row: D. Nielson, J. Putnam, Muehlman, J. G. Thompson, Nicely, Colbert, Dickey, W. Hall. Third row: Boswell, Nessa, Drehman, Hieronymous, Stepleton (manager), McCabe (manager).

This year, the varsity matmen, coached by Mr. Kuhn, have completed a winning season with five wins and four losses. Our team has done a commendable job against numerous other superior teams. The team is, first row, from left: Sweeney, Steinbuhler, Koontz, Hobbs (co-captain), Wicke, Mr. Kuhn, Browning, Rubin, Goodwin (co-captain), K. Booth, J. S. Adams. Second row: Summers, Ebert, Stoeppler, J. L. Adams, Hess, Jamison, Powers, Applbaum, McIlroy, Ashby. Third row: Everhart, A. Bisset, Banzhaf, Sutherland, Latta, Howell, Tracy, M. Crawford, Steel. Fourth row: C. R. Bell (manager), Pearsall, J. L. Miller, McLean, Schiffer (manager).

Five Mercersburg matmen including Koontz, Hess, and Ebert sound out lone Shippensburg wrestler before meet.

Martin Sweeney, varsity wrestler who wrestles in the unlimited class, meets his opponent.

The J. V. Wrestlers, posting a 2-2 record for the year, show great promise for future varsity teams. They displayed good sportsmanship, wrestled with great finesse, and gained valuable experience necessary for a good varsity team. The members of the team are, front row, from left: Liedy, Prentice, Collins, Chambers, Magruder, Mr. Kuhn, Latoff, Biggi, Eshelman, Dyke, Schildecker. Second row: Schriver, Kriegel, Ambrose, T. Fourth row: Ingerson, Warden, E. Swetland (manager), Meiselman, Stanger.

The 1962 Varsity Baseball team ended a victorious season with a record of 8-7-1. Coached by Messrs. Kuhn and Conlin, the team's members showed fine sportsmanship and a desire to win throughout the season. This combination of skill and spirit greatly aided the squad, which in 1962 included, first row, from left: Mr. Kuhn, J. L. Adams, K. C. Walter, Hull, Entwisle, Eckert (captain), Pickett, Berkman, Peck, Mr. Conlin. Second row: Davenport (manager), Day, Terry, Mermelstein, Carpenter, Ornitz, Reed, Getty, Eshelman (manager). Third row: J. R. Weaver, Cass, Barker, Zimmerman, Hicks, Hoffstot, R. L. Merrill, Coates, Stafford, Buchheister.

Terminating a good season with three wins and three losses, the 1962 Jayvee Baseball team, coached by Mr. Schonheiter, showed improvement and gave evidence of promising players for future varsity teams. These 1962 Spring baseball players are, first row, from left: Heyward, E. Swetland, Hesse, Harrold, Furlong, McIlroy, J. S. Adams. Second row: Gost, Chambers, Weiner, Frankenfield, Mr. Schonheiter, Graffius, Roth, Hook, Hite. Third row: Plappert, Stackpole, Taylor, Palone, Lenna, Parks, Tracy J. L. Smith, Happel, Wicke. The Junior Varsity Tennis squad, under the supervision of Mr. Swetland, played well in winning both their matches. This was an excellent record for the team, which was established in the spring of 1962. The team includes, first row, from left: Ballou, Alsted, Mr. Swetland, Searls, Griffith. Second row: Cordero, J. I. Simpson, G. Miller, O. Branscome, Devor, H. Richardson. Third row: Funkhouser, Wein, Wormser, M. Abrams, Fink.

At left, Mr. Schonheiter outlines the Varsity's mistakes of the first half, and gives them a few ideas for improvement during the second half. At right, Mr. Getchell shows his J. V. Basketball team a few moves that might come in handy during an important game.

Mr. Kuhn rewards the baseball players with the coveted varsity "M" at school assembly devoted to awarding letters for Spring sports.

1963 Graduates and

AT MERCERSBURG, each of the four classes plays an integral part in the development of the Academy's spirit and atmosphere.

Although graduation seems a long way off for Juniors, they realize that one day they will be called on to be the school leaders. Therefore, their year is one of preparation for assuming more responsibility.

The Lower Middlers, with a year of experience, look forward to more opportunities of learning. The athletic teams have more meaning and they begin to know "what it's all about."

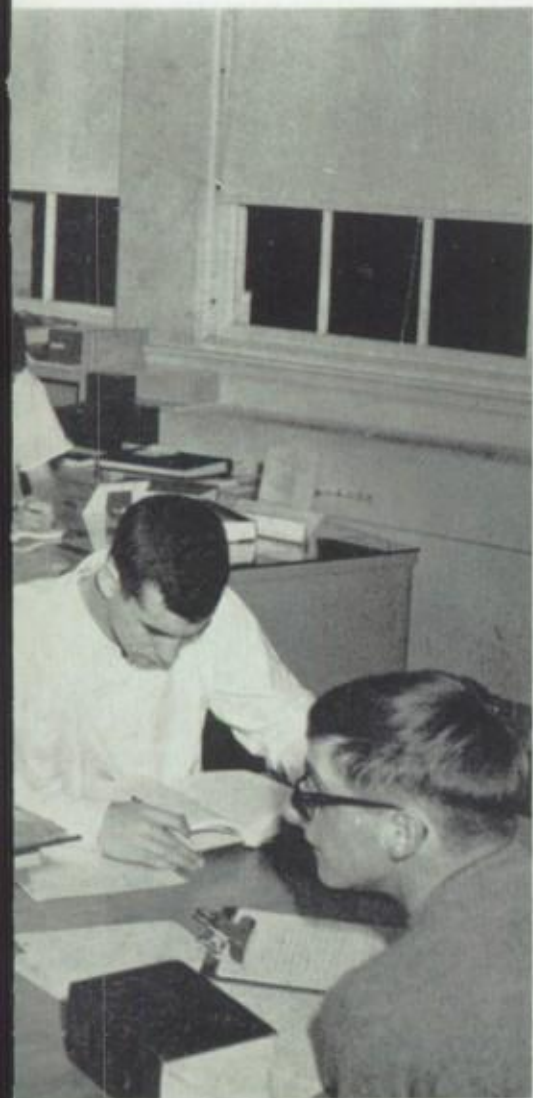

Members of the Upper Middler Class, anticipating their year as Seniors, now have recognized Mercersburg as their Alma Mater. Their years of work will be culminated with one final effort as Seniors.

The Seniors, having led the school through a year of advancement, are now ready to represent Mercersburg in the colleges and universities of our land. The status of the Academy will depend in a large part on their achievements in the future.

As we leave the past years' dwelling for the new, the senior class remembers fondly the years we have spent at Mercersburg. And for the others we have built a web of events: football games, dances, and finally graduation. The senior class leaves and the lower classes rise up into the vaster dome.

Others

Mr. Joe L. Brown, '37, Manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates Baseball Club, and father of a current son of Mercersburg, Don Brown, '65, introduces four prominent players of the team, Bill Maze-roski, Earl Francis, Bob Friend, and Elroy Face at a special program in Boone Hall. The dis-cussion consisted of questions and answers concerning the organization of the ball club, on and off the field.

Mrs. Swetland serves students and guests at Parents' Day reception in Boone Hall.

The gay boulevardier shown here, Mr. Percy Pumpkin, was caught in a relaxed moment near the step of the headmaster's home.

Specialties

Senior History

Today, June 9, 1916, marks a day that has long been awaited by every member of this senior class. It is a day that marks the end of one segment and the beginning of another in the life of every one of us. For most of us, a higher education will follow in the form of college and perhaps of graduate school. After this, we will be let go into the world to achieve what we desire to achieve. Some of us will be very successful in our employment, while others of us will fall by the wayside for the lack of ambition. But no matter what faces us in the future, we will always remember our schoolboy days at Mercersburg.

This senior class of 1963 has been at the top of every phase of Mercersburg life. We have led our athletic teams to both victories and defeats; as leaders in organizations such as The Mercersburg News, the Karux, the literary societies, the Varsity Club, and the many other organizations on campus, we have counselled the younger boys to be leaders; but, most important of all, we have placed many of our names on the honor rolls during our stay here.

Now, as we take our last look over this campus, we remember great events which have taken place during our stay here. We remember such things as the construction and dedication of Tippetts Hall, the construction and dedication of Boone Hall, and the renovation and dedication of Swank Hall. One of the most memorable events that have become part of the history of Mercersburg during our stay here was the arrival of a new headmaster on campus, Mr. William C. Fowle. For the boys, he has granted privileges such as twelve o'clock lights for seniors and a weekend for all boys. For the school, he has worked tirelessly for its betterment, both physical and academic.

In addition to these memorable events, we also remember more personal ones—we remember our many trips to Jack's; we remember our first Field Day, when we became old boys of Mercersburg; we remember the guard path and penal study hall; we remember the dances and the Sunday afternoons spent at Penn Hall; we remember being home-sick after vacations; and we remember the ordeal of examinations.

To Mr. and Mrs. Fowle, the faculty, and the administration, this class of '63 would like to give its most hearty thanks for all that they have done. They are the ones who have aided us in our learning; they are the ones who have guided us in the transition from boys to men; and they are the ones who have made us physically, mentally, and religiously able to face the future.

Infirmary

One of the events during Field Day is the shot put. Here, Mr. Tyson advises Hugh Jamison and others about regulations for the contest.

Exams always evoke various emotions — hysteria, tears, excitement and sweat. Seen here are some "excited" students awaiting the final word. Will they flunk or will they pass?

Cum Laude Society

The Cum Laude Society corresponds in the preparatory school field to the honorary scholastic society, Phi Beta Kappa, in the college world. It includes chapters in more than a hundred schools, and the Mercersburg chapter is composed of charter members from the faculty and a maximum of twenty per cent of the graduating class who have completed at least a two-year course at Mercersburg and maintained a high scholastic average. This does not apply to a senior who has completed three years only of a four-year high school course before entering Mercersburg.

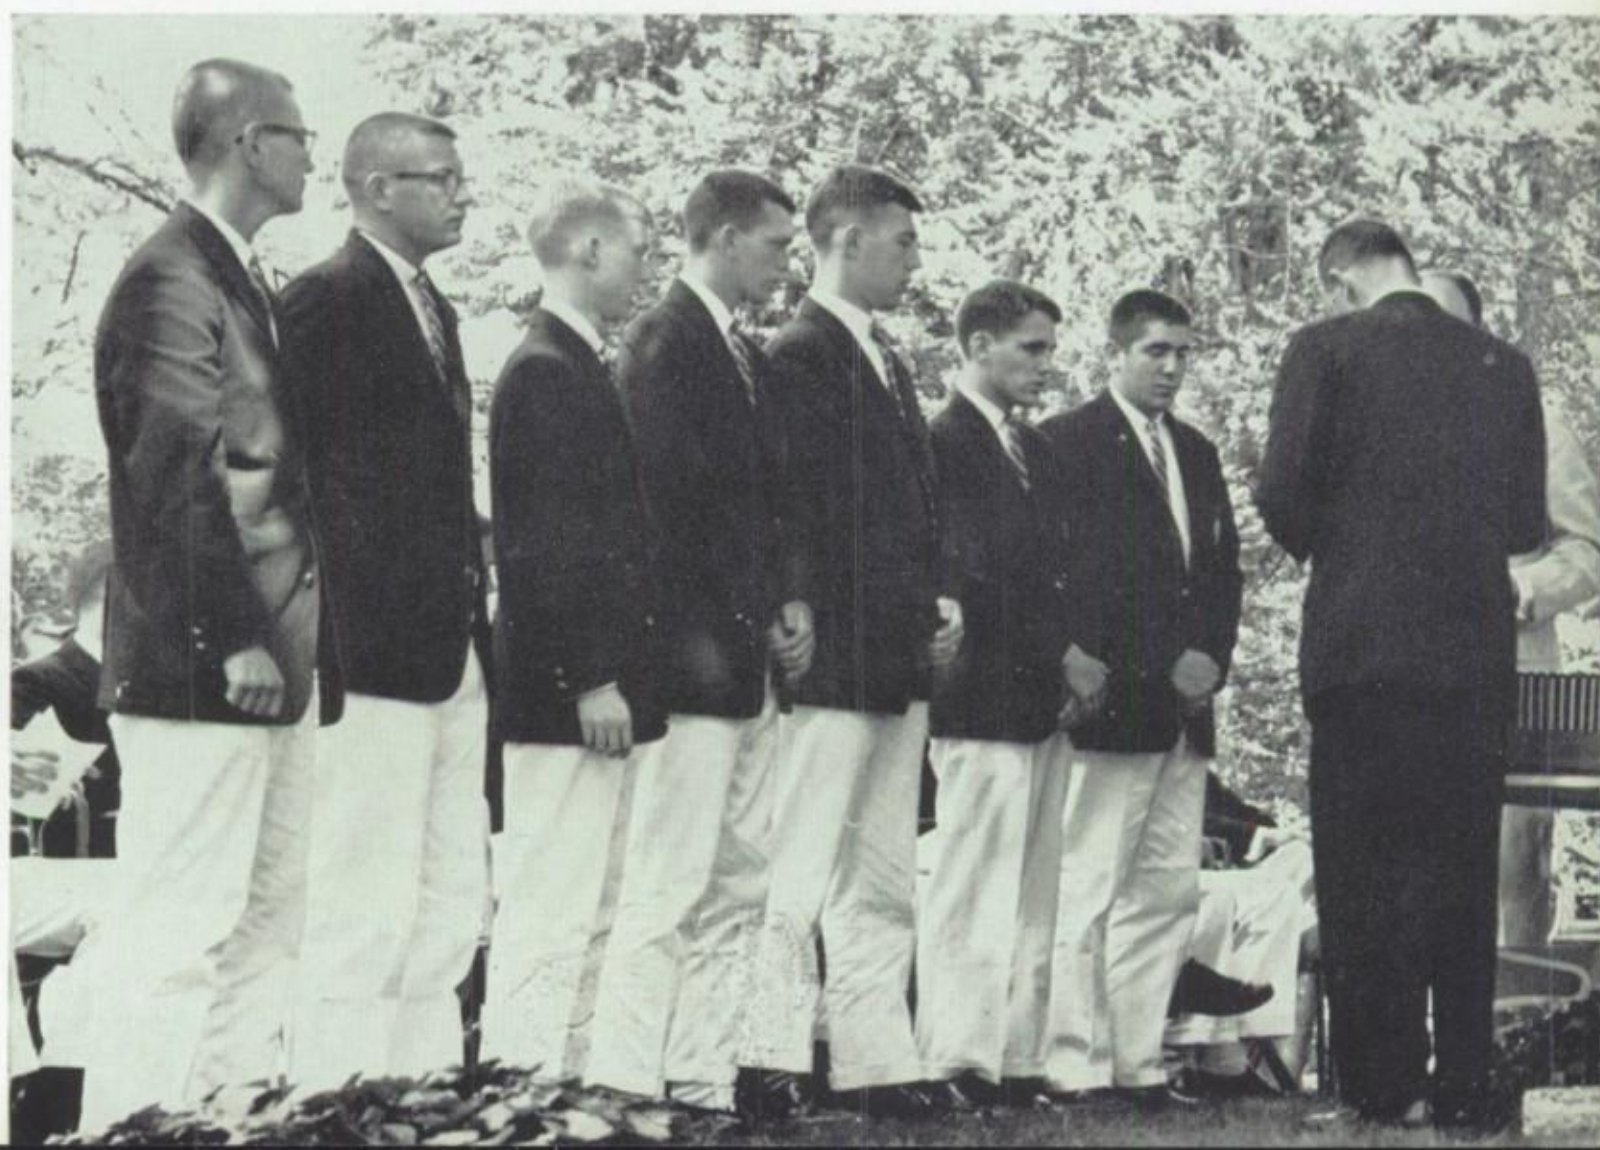

The charter membership of the Mercersburg Chapter consists of ten members of the faculty and the valedictorian of each class for the twenty years prior to the founding of the chapter. The charter was granted to the Mercersburg Chapter during the academic year 1929-1930.

The present roster of the Academy chapter includes: From the Faculty: Mr. William C. Fowle, President and Headmaster; Dr. Lewis H. Hitzrot, Medical Director; Mr. Stephen J. Szekely, Latin Department Head; Mr. David M. Tyson, Mathematics; Mr. Walter H. Burgin, Head of the Mathematics Department; and Mr. Richard R. Schellenberger, English Department Head and Society Secretary.

Chosen in March from the Senior Class in Course: Stephen V. Armstrong, William F. Brown, Jr., James T. Ebert, Thomas J. Foose, John R. Harris, IV, Benjamin H. Jones, Richard B. Landau, Richard I. Loebel, Dennis A. Zeger.

The Cum Laude, which corresponds to Phi Beta Kappa of the college world, is an honorary scholastic society on the secondary school level. Its goal is to encourage and reward the scholar. These boys are being initiated during the class day exercises. They are, from left: Weaver, McKee, Gilbert, Eckert, Dicker, Copher, S. Brody.

Names and Addresses

A NECESSARY PART of every organization is its file of statistics. Long lists of names and addresses are dull and tiresome reading. But in any yearbook they are essential for full coverage of school life.

In this section the KARUX presents rosters of the underclassmen with their addresses, a list of grandsons, of membership in the John Marshall and Washington Irving Literary Societies, and the Varsity Club.

THE LINCOLN NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

A SCHOOL IS MEASURED BY ITS PERFORMANCE . . .
A STUDENT BY HIS LOYALTY AND DEVOTION!

We had no intention of advertising in THE KARUX, but the lad who solicited us was not to be denied. He has a convincing belief in this publication. He is proud of it and loyal to it. He is happy to be a part of it.

We gained the impression he holds the same feeling for MERCERSBURG ACADEMY. He reflects a highly favorable image of a school that obviously is fulfilling one of America's greatest needs — inspiring loyalty and self-reliance plus unqualified certainty that selfless individual efforts can combine to attain a standard of excellence whether it be in matters of a publication, a school or a nation.

Our staff holds the same feeling and loyalty to the precepts of a good hotel. They are happy in playing their important roles in making this hotel — EVERYTHING A GOOD HOTEL SHOULD BE!

even school books
can't teach you

the value of a Venus de Milo or make an operatic solo more appealing than the "Tiger Rag." It requires a sensitive, perceptive ear and eye to appreciate their quality.
But the history books will tell you that it is quality which survives the acid test of time.

Like fine music and art, fine printing will have a lasting appeal. The discerning individual will recognize the quality of a PRIDEMARK product.
